ROYALS ATOP AFTER BUTTLER'S HEROICS

Rajasthan Royals' Jos Buttler stole the show once again as his third century (116) in IPL 2022 helped his team beat Delhi Capitals by 15 runs in Mumbai on Friday. They have thus jumped to the top of the table. His 65-ball innings powered Rajasthan to 222/2, while Delhi managed 207/8 in reply. However, Rovman Powell did his best with three sixes in the final over, but it did not prove to be enough | P17

JAISH MEN KILLED

Suicide attack foiled ahead of PM's J&K visit

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

SECURITY forces foiled a major fidayeen (suicide) attack at Sunjawan in Jammu as they shot down two heavily armed Jaish-e-Mohammed militants wearing suicide vests on Friday, just two days before Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Jammu and Kashmir.

A CISF officer was also killed in the gunfight, while four security men were injured.

"The launch of two militants took place ahead of PM's visit. It was part of a bigger conspiracy to disturb the peaceful atmosphere in Jammu and sabotage the PM's visit," said Director General of Police Dilbagh Singh.

Prime Minister Modi is due to visit Palli in Samba district on April 24 to participate in national panchayat diwas.

A joint team of National Investigation Agency (NIA) and State Investigation Agency visited the encounter site during the day. They are likely to take over the case for investigation.

Big bonding, no U-lecture

Both India and the UK set Diwali deadline for clinching a free-trade pact

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

HAVING accorded a king-size welcome in Gujarat the previous day like he did for former US President Donald Trump, Prime Minister Narendra Modi built the atmospherics for the summit with his UK counterpart Boris Johnson, drawing wholesome praise from the visitor on Friday even on prickly issues like Ukraine.

Both leaders addressed each other on first name terms at a joint press conference, with Boris profusely thanking his khaas dost (special friend) Narendra for the overwhelming reception, which included a roadshow in Ahmedabad, saying that he felt like cricket icon Sachin Tendulkar on his arrival and like superstar Amitabh Bachchan on seeing his hoardings everywhere in Gujarat.

Both sides set a Diwali (October) deadline for arriving at a comprehensive free-trade agreement and signed six pacts in the interregnum. The bilateral talks covered a wide spectrum, including enhancing defence and security ties. Prominent among the proposals on the table were the building of a new fighter jet in India with top-of-the-line British know-how.

Refusing to criticise India's comparatively soft line against Russia on the Ukraine invasion, Johnson said, "Modi has come out in strong language at what happened in Bucha. He has made several attempts to reach out to Vladimir Putin asking him what on earth he thinks is he doing? Indians want peace and Russia out and I tend to agree with that."

Both sides unequivocally condemn civilian deaths

A joint statement said Modi and Johnson unequivocally condemned the civilian deaths in Ukraine, and "reiterated the need for an immediate cessation of hostilities and a peaceful resolution of the conflict, which was having severe implications across the globe, in particular for developing countries"

Modi said both India and Britain were hopeful of a resolution in Ukraine. "We have focused on dialogue between the nations in the Russia-Ukraine war and have always maintained that the sovereignty and integrity of both nations be maintained."

Modi credited Johnson for improving ties between the two countries. "This may be his first visit as PM to India, but Boris knows India very well. He has contributed greatly in enhancing India-UK ties."

Regarding upholding human rights and democratic values, Johnson said India functions according to its Constitution that had provisions to safeguard the interests of everyone.

"If I talk about human rights and democratic values, of course we have this conversation but the advantage of our friendship is that we can have them in a friendly and private way," he said.

Johnson said India was different from autocracies around the world like Russia and China. P9

R value reaches .95, state told to be ready

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

WITH the R value crossing 1 in India, Karnataka is among the top five states that is inching towards the national average. Renowned epidemiologist Dr Giridhara Babu on Friday took to Twitter and warned states to be prepared to handle the rise in Covid cases.

Dr Babu, who is part of the state Covid Technical Advisory Committee, tweeted, "R is 1.29 for India. Not to panic, but to prepare depending on the proportion of severe illness requiring hospitalisation,"

He said R is nearing 1 in Manipur (0.99), Himachal Pradesh (0.96), Karnataka (0.95), Maharashtra (0.94), Bihar (0.94), Rajasthan (0.93), Goa (0.93), Tamil Nadu (0.92) and Mizoram (0.92).

He said that states should track infections and severity by monitoring clinical symptoms, looking for clusters or atypical symptoms and increasing testing levels in the states.

States and union territories that need immediate attention as their R value is above national average (1.09) are Uttar Pradesh (1.38), Delhi (1.39), Haryana (1.28), Punjab (1.13), Uttarakhand (1.04) and Chandigarh (1.05).

Health and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar said in Mysuru, "People should not now think that Covid is far away and we don't have to worry. It is important to follow Covid-appropriate behaviour especially masking up and vaccinations." P5

TWO PU II students of commerce stream from Women's Government PU College, Udupi, who are also petitioners in the hijab case, were sent back from the exam centre at Vidyodaya PU College, Udupi on Friday. The exam supervisor told the students to go back as they insisted that they will write the exam wearing hijab.

After waiting till 10.45 am, when the half-an-hour grace period was over, the exam supervisor sent out Aliya Assadi and Resham as they were not ready to remove their hijab. Demand for Chikkajala stn on Metro's Airport Line

Residents lobby for stoppage, say it will benefit thousands

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A section of residents from Chikkajala is demanding that the upcoming Metro line to Kempegowda International Airport provides a stoppage at Chikkajala, which figured in the original Detailed Project Report (DPR) readied for the Airport Line in September 2017.

Taking part in a Public Open House on the Blue Line Corridor (Central Silk Board to KR Puram (Phase 2A) and KR Puram to KIA (Phase 2B) organised by the Directorate of Urban Land Transport (DULT) and Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) on Friday afternoon, C N Manoj, a software professional and resident of Chikkajala said it was the taluk headquarters.

"It is densely populated with schools, colleges, hospitals and police stations, and the public will benefit enormously," he pointed out.

Eight residents from the area had come in person for the discussion, to highlight the issue. Manjunath told TNIE, "If you look at Bettahalasuru where a station has been proposed, it is an industrial area.

Instead, if they provide a station at Chikkajala, which has at least 50,000 residents and is a central point for many hoblis, thousands will benefit."

Satya, an urban mobility expert, called for the need to have a Bengaluru Metropolitan Land Transport Authority soon so that multiple agencies involved in transport, work in tandem. An association representing developers, too, spelt out the need to have a single authority.

Indira Belde, Bsafe ambassador, requested BMRCL to provide Metro trains round-the-clock so that women working at night can reach home on a safe mode of transport. "Even if trains were provided once an hour or two hours during nights, it would help," she said.

In her presentation on 'Transit Oriented Development and Multi Modal Integration for Phase 2A and 2B', DULT Commissioner V Manjula said the vehicles in the city will double by 2031.

"Around any Metro, Suburban Rail or TTMC, the 6-6-6 concept needs to be followed. The transport hub should be reachable either by 6 minutes by walk, 6 minutes by cycle, or 6 minutes by bus," she said.

A street hierarchy needs to be created whereby priority would be given to pedestrians and cyclists," she said. The Floor Area Ratio (FAR) must be higher in the TOD zones, identification of which is on.

No metro from Byp to MGs after 9.30pm today

Metro train services will be stopped after 9.30 pm on Saturday (April 23) on the Purple Line between Baiyappanahalli and MG Road Metro stations. Normalcy will be restored along this stretch on Sunday from 7 am. An official release stated, "BMRCL will be taking up civil maintenance works on the Purple Line from 9.30 pm onwards between Indira Nagar and Swami Vivekananda Road Metro stations. To facilitate this work Metro services will be curtailed." Trains will run only between MG Road and Kengeri as per the schedule. The last train from Kengeri towards Baiyappanahalli and vice-versa would leave by 8.30 pm. For connecting the Green Line at Kempegowda Metro station, the last train would leave from Kempe Gowda Metro station to Baiyappanahalli at 9 pm. The Greenline will not be affected.

Baiyappanahalli-Whitefield line may be ready by Dec-end

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THREE major bottlenecks for the Baiyappanahalli-Whitefield line were cleared recently, paving the way for the smooth opening of Reach-1A & 1B lines of Metro's Phase-II by December-end, as scheduled.

The 15.25-km elevated line will have 13 Metro stations and a new depot at Kadugodi.

BMRCL Managing Director Anjum Parwez said, "The Railway Board has given in-principle approval for the 3,500 sqm of land that BMRCL required near KR Puram station for widening the road. We are giving them equal land in exchange."

General Manager, Land Acquisition, M S Channappagoudar said, "This is a big breakthrough as we had been requesting for almost a year. We have identified an equal portion of land to be handed over to BMRCL. It is in the possession of BDA and they have agreed to transfer it."

This will facilitate laying of the road between Tin Factory and KR Puram towards Marathahalli and Whitefield. "We have already obtained the remaining land from private parties, and widening work has begun," he said.

The line also required some land on the Benniganahalli Lake bund to lay Metro pillars and road work. "We have created a Diaphragm Wall running 14 metres, which goes from the top of the lake bund to below the lake. This is to prevent water from gushing onto our structures. The work has begun here now," the MD said.

Bengaluru Railway Division has also given BMRCL the green signal to take the Metro network forward over the Salem railway line near Benniganahalli. "We need to put in place our elevated structure running 65 metres above the line and Railways has given us permission," Parwez said. A height clearance of over 8 metres above the railway line needs to be maintained, an official added.

PU students make last-minute preparations ahead of their exams at a college in Bengaluru on Friday | VINOD KUMAR.T

PU exams off to smooth start, 95% write Business Studies paper

SHILPA P @ Bengaluru

AS many as 2,28,005 students across Karnataka appeared for the second-year PU Board exams which began on Friday. On the very first day, of 2,39,384 students who had registered, 11,379 students were absent, while 95.24 per cent of the students were present, according to PU Board sources.

Except for the two hijab petitioners, Aliya Assadi and Resham from Government PU College for Women in Udupi, who were sent back after they insisted on writing the exam wearing the hijab at Vidyodaya PU College in Udupi, no other cases were reported in the State.

No incidents of exam malpractices were reported, according to PU Board director R Ramachandran.

Among 2,38,764 students (including 2,18,084 freshers, 6,538 private students and 10,876 repeaters) who registered for the Business Studies exam, 2,27,453 students wrote the paper. In all, 11,311 students, including 7,795 freshers, 475 private students and 2,492 repeaters were absent.

For Business Studies, the highest registrations (36,026) were from Bengaluru South and also highest attendance (34,750) for the paper. The lowest registrations (1,083), absentees (90) and attendance (973) for Business Studies were from Yadgir district.

Among 620 students who registered for the Logic exam, 552 wrote the paper, while 68 people, two private students and six repeaters were absent.

STUDENTS HAPPY TO WRITE 'REAL EXAM'

Students were excited to take regular PU Board exams in a post-pandemic situation. Students at Government PU College in Chikkamagaluru were greeted by Minister B C Nagesh. Monisha, a student of Government Girls Junior College in Chitradurga, said she was happy to write the exams, which are a culmination of two years of hard work. Students at National College in Basavanagudi, were thoroughly screened before they were allowed to enter the centre. They were not allowed to wear watches or shoes inside the exam hall.

'Will move court for contempt against students'

THE students did not budge, sources said. The hijab petitioners left the exam centre refusing to speak to the media.

Udupi BJP MLA K Raghupathi Bhat, who is also the president of the College Development Committee (CDC) at the Women's Government PU College, Udupi, said college authorities were trying to convince the hijab petitioners to take the hall tickets till Thursday evening, but they had not agreed. On Friday morning, they took the hall tickets, saying they would remove the hijab while writing the exam. Their college principal Rudre Gowda told them to go to the centre, which is 2 km away, and to follow the high court order. When they arrived at the examination centre, they insisted on wearing hijab, the MLA added.

Bhat said, "If other hijab petitioners from the science stream also try to insist on wearing hijab while writing the exam, which starts on Saturday, the police should take action against them for creating nuisance. We will move the court seeking contempt proceedings against them."

Yashpal Suvarna, vice-president of the CDC at the Women's Government PU College, Udupi, also a BJP leader, asked why the hijab petitioners arrived at the examination centre to write the exam if they were not ready to follow the High Court order banning hijab inside classrooms.

BDA holds pre-bid meet for Master Plan 2041

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE much-delayed Master Plan 2031 for the City readied by the Bangalore Development Authority which was revised to Master Plan 2041 due to delays has now gone in for a second round of global tendering to appoint a consultant to prepare a draft. A pre-bid meeting for consultants was held on Thursday.

Bengaluru now uses the Master Plan 2015. A senior BDA official said, "Eight agencies took part in the meeting held to explain the technical details and discuss other aspects of the contract, which has a 15-day deadline. But they may get an extra week to prepare the bid document. We called for the first tender on December 22 last year. The last date was extended up to February 15. But when we opened the technical proposals on February 17, no bids were received. We had made it mandatory that the bidding company must have a Rs 15 crore annual turnover over a two-year period and a work space of 500 sqm."

He said, "Due to no response, we issued a ₹Tender for Call-2 now' on April 12. A couple of those who attended the meet on Thursday wanted the turnover clause of Rs 15 crore removed but we said no. We may reduce the work space to 400 sqm."

He said, "We have sounded the National Remote Sensing Centre, Hyderabad, to capture pictures and they will use drones. Later, we will digitise all the images."

Another BDA official said the Master Plan 2041 would be ready by April/May 2023.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

23rd April: We all know about Charles Darwin's theory of evolution and the survival of the fittest – the idea that species develop, as strong animals live and the weak die out. Well, some scientists think that the same principle extends to entire galaxies, and that systems containing billions of stars struggle for dominance in the universe. Now that's a thought to ponder on!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Anything that happens now in the way of travel or overseas contacts will have major consequences for you or your loved ones over the coming months. If you understand that the most important planetary cycle is a very long-term one, then you'll gain a much better perspective on your daily ups and downs.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You can't bottle your feelings up for ever. Share all your thoughts and feelings today, and take any short journeys that are necessary. Very soon, perhaps over the next few days, a major family or domestic improvement will be moving from number ten on your list to number one.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
It's a splendid day to shell out some cash, but the stars are making no distinction between minor purchases and major investments, like a new house or two. There is no way you will be able to cut costs for a little while longer, but at least you can avoid needless waste.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You are in an excellent position to take the initiative, and should do so as soon as possible. Your lunar alignments put you in an almost unassailable position, and you should make sure that work is combined with pleasure. Hopefully employers and people in authority will appreciate your true talents.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
A series of brilliant planetary aspects is setting you up for a very special period. Begin this phase today by making various discreet enquiries and keeping certain feelings to yourself. You should also take practical matters into your own hands, lest other, less competent people, overlook essential details.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Partners may be making extra demands. You may continue to take the line of least resistance and give as much sympathy and support as you can. Don't fret, for any apparent retreat will be an advance in disguise. It's important that you lift your morale by letting your hair down socially.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Relationships dominate your thinking. If this is true, then your stars at the present are absolutely superb, and you should press ahead with radical changes at work or at home. Do realise, though, that everything depends on how other people react. Play your cards carefully.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You may be pulled in two directions, but then that gives you the chance to have your cake and eat it, doesn't it? Actually twenty-five hours per day will probably not be enough to accomplish all that is required at home or at work. Could your expectations be too high? I think they could!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Money and financial transactions are the most important item of the day, but longer-term transits indicate that legal issues, foreign connections and educational aspirations are absolutely central. In matters of the heart it's friendship that you want. Passion can wait until later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Home, property and domestic concerns are crucial to your happiness. You may have your own ideas, but you may allow other people to take the lead; a close partner will protect your interests. Give social engagements a very high priority: friends expect no less.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
One very major and historic planetary alignment is now in the past, but another, which is much more specific, is imminent and, whatever your wishes, whatever your ambitions, you should spare no effort over the next three days. There is no time to waste!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You appear to be trying to avoid the important issues, but there is nothing unusual in this. There is everything to be said for enjoying yourself today, for who knows what tomorrow brings? Besides, there's absolutely no point in walking around with a long face.

Thieves learnt their skills on YouTube

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TWO interstate professional thieves who wanted to settle abroad have been arrested by the North division police. Cash and other valuables worth Rs 79.64 lakhs have been recovered from the duo. The accused were earlier in Bangladesh before moving to the city and had allegedly committed thefts in Sanjaynagar area.

The accused Vinod Kumar of Telangana and Rohit Mandal of West Bengal used to watch YouTube videos for training, purchase of tools required for theft.

Kumar who is from Hyderabad was arrested in 2015 in a similar cases. After being released from jail, Kumar shifted his base to Kolkata, where he worked as a driver and became friends with Mandal.

"In 2019, Kumar along with his wife and Mandal went to Bangladesh and changed their names. Kumar and his wife managed to come to the city illegally. He then started committing thefts in the city. His modus operandi was to identify locked houses during the day and commit thefts at night. Later he again went to Bangladesh and has left his wife there," said an officer.

Kumar made Mandal his assistant and the duo committed a series of burglaries in Sanjaynagar, JC Nagar, Banaswadi, and other areas. They wanted to commit maximum thefts possible and return to Bangladesh to lead a lavish life. Out of the stolen ornaments, Kumar had kept some for his wife. Around 1.26 kg of gold ornaments, electronic items and other valuables worth Rs 79.64 lakhs have been recovered from them.

Startup receives $1 million to monitor air quality in K'taka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH concerns over worsening air quality in Karnataka, a tech startup has received $1 million in funding for the monitoring and filtration of air in the state as well as Maharashtra. Interestingly, the funding comes from Balvi Fund which is the fund initiative of Ethereum founder Vitalik Buterin. The fund was founded earlier this year for the benefit of relief projects in India and globally.

According to a report by the National Environmental Engineering Research Institute (NEERI), Karnataka was reported to have the worst air quality in South India, with Bidar, Belagavi and Raichur being some of the worst polluted. In order to combat this, the startup, ActiveBuildings and Balvi Fund have signed an MoU to establish 5,000 indoor air quality monitors and 10,000 air cleaners in both Karnataka and Maharashtra. The partnership aims to work towards monitoring the levels of carbon dioxide emissions, air quality and keep air pollution in check.

"Air filters are very effective at reducing airborne spread of Covid and other viruses by working entirely in the background and CO2 sensors can detect poor air quality and suggest when filtration or ventilation might be required," said Vitalik Buterin.

The startup also hopes to initiate public awareness on the issue. "With this partnership, we intend to cover 600,000 sq. meters of indoor spaces which will be protected with the help of 10,000 units of the Bubble Corsi-Rosenthal Boxes to public spaces like schools, healthcare facilities etc," said Abhinav Gupta, CEO of the startup.

The box is a DYI air purifier that was developed during the pandemic by a US-base environmental engineer.

HC to govt: Set up lab to check food safety

ENS @Bengaluru:

THE Karnataka High Court directed the state government to take necessary steps to establish a proper laboratory in consultation with NABL, to ascertain the presence of samples as per food safety standards prescribed under the Food Safety and Standards Act, with proper and adequate staff.

Justice V Srishananda also directed the state government to endeavour to appoint Food Safety Officers in each taluk at the earliest, and that proper training be imparted to all Food and Safety Officers for effective implementation of the Act, in collection samples, preservation of samples and sending them to the laboratory, obtaining report and placing it before the Additional District Magistrate cum Adjudicating Authority at the earliest.

The court issued these guidelines while quashing criminal proceedings initiated in 2015 against Iqbal Syed Sab Dafedhar, a wholesale food products distributor, before the Adjudicating Authority by declaring the sample of noodles of a reputed company he distributed was misbranded, without there being proper laboratory facility to fisnd out the presence of lead and flavour enhancers -- Mono Sodium Glutamate (MSG).

Noting that it cannot turn a blind eye in arresting the menace of misbranded or substandard food items sold and consumed in society, the court said that the state has the onerous responsibility of ensuring the quality of food items that would be manufactured/imported to our country.

At present, as an ad hoc arrangement, a memorandum of understanding is entered into with a private laboratory by the department, to check samples. The court noted that acceptability of the report given by a private laboratory for the purpose of adjudication is doubtful, and it is the bounden duty of the government to establish a laboratory and not outsource it.

Ex-serviceman thanks cops for recovering his money from cyber frauds

PRAVEEN KUMAR @Bengaluru

A 60-year-old ex-serviceman from the Army, who retired as a captain and was also part of the Kargil War, is elated after the CEN police of the Whitefield division successfully got back his money which he had lost after getting conned by cyber frauds.

Capt Rajendra Singh Waldia, a resident of Avalahalli, was surfing the net looking for the numbers of reputed Ayurveda establishments to take his wife for treatment. Unfortunately, he contacted the fake numbers of an Ayurveda firm and was conned. He approached the CEN police, who froze the account numbers of the accused and also got back his money. He said getting back his money was like winning a war.

Capt Waldia was cheated of Rs 28,600 by the cyber frauds on February 21 this year. He could not believe his luck when he received the money in his account on April 19. "It is not about the money. It is about how the cyber fraud cheated me. He was so smart that he knew exactly all the products of the ayurveda firm and the naturopathy treatment. He made me share my wife's medical certificates. One of his associates posing as a doctor spoke to me confidently and anybody could have been deceived. Finally they sent the bank details to send the money. When I asked for receipts to be emailed to me I realised that the customer care numbers of the firm were different. When I called customer care, I found out I had been duped," he said.

He called the police control room number and was advised to approach the Whitefield division's CEN police station. He even approached the bank.

"Whitefield CEN police station's Sub-Inspector Arun ensured that I got the money back. The matter was discussed with the bank officials and legal aid was provided to approach the court who directed the bank to freeze the account numbers," he added.

He also appreciated the efforts of the cyber crime police and it was tweeted by Police Commissioner Kamal Pant and Whitefield division DCP S Girish.

What is R value?

The R value is a way of rating coronavirus or any diseases ability to spread. R is the number of people that one infected person will pass on a virus to, on average. SARS-CoV02 would have a reproduction number of about three.

How is R value calculated?

Scientists work backwards to calculate R. Certain data such as the number of people dying, admitted to hospital or testing positive for the virus over time is used to estimate how easily the virus is spreading.

Is R value above 1 dangerous?

If the R value is higher than one, then the number of cases keeps increasing. But if the value is lower, the disease will eventually stop spreading, because not people are being infected to sustain the outbreak.

Relief from 236 fibroids comes with a Guinness Record

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

A 34-year-old woman from Bengaluru has entered the Guinness World Record for getting 236 fibroids successfully removed from her uterus. Sakra World Hospital in Bengaluru's Dr Shanthala Thuppanna had removed the fibroids on 6 October 2021 while the record was announced on Friday.

Ritika Sharma, a native of Bengaluru, and an aspiring author was suffering from abnormal menstrual bleeding and had an enlarged abdomen resembling eight-month-old pregnancy due to the different sizes of the fibroids. She was diagnosed with 236 fibroids, which included a large cauliflower shaped fibroid measuring up to 20X20X10 cm.

In a four-and-a-half-hour surgery, Dr Shanthala, Senior Consultant & Head of Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology performed a myomectomy and removed all the fibroids. The previous record was of 186 fibroids which was removed from an Egyptian woman in 2016. Dr Shanthala said, "It was a complicated surgery since fibroids were located below the urinary bladder and ureter and were spread throughout the left side of her uterus and very near to important structures in the abdomen."

Ritika said, "This is an unexpected event and I would like to thank the staff of the hospital for giving me the best clinical advice."

CM to visit Delhi next weekend, buzz of big change grows loud

Bommai to take part in conference, expected to meet top leaders to discuss cabinet

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

WITH Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai scheduled to visit New Delhi by the end of this month, political circles are abuzz with talk of major changes in the cabinet.

A section of BJP leaders is even speculating that there could be a 100 per cent overhaul, as in Gujarat recently. Highly placed sources, though, ruled out any leadership change, and said Bommai will lead the party in the 2023 polls.

Sources said Bommai's visit is scheduled for April 30, and he will participate in a joint conference of Chief Ministers and Chief Justices of High Courts, being held for effective coordination of efforts towards providing speedy justice to the people.

The meeting is expected to be a day-long affair and will be inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

When in Delhi, Bommai is expected to meet the party leadership and discuss the issue of changes in his cabinet. Some non-performers and those against whom there are charges, are likely to be dropped.

Sources in the party said some leaders in the ministry could be roped in to organise the party for elections, which are just 10 months away.

Meanwhile, there is talk that Modi is likely to visit Bengaluru to inaugurate the first Semiconductor Conference on April 29, and may spend some time with the state leadership here.

There are five cabinet vacancies after the exit of Eshwarappa -- some have been pending for a long time, and aspirants have openly expressed unhappiness over the inordinate delay in filling up the berths.

During his recent visit to Karnataka to attend the state executive committee meeting, BJP National President JP Nadda had discussed political developments in the state with Bommai, and the latter had confirmed that he would visit Delhi when invited by the central leadership.

Let govt ban groups harming peace: Siddu

ENS @Hubballi

Leader of Opposition in the Legislative Assembly Siddaramaiah said, "If the government has courage let it ban the organisations disturbing peace and harmony in the society".

Replying to a query on the government considering banning some organisations, Siddaramaiah said that nobody has denied banning any organisation that disturb communal harmony whether it is SDPI, AIMIM, RSS, or Bajrang Dal. The Congress was not averse to such an idea, he said.

Speaking to reporters here on Friday, Siddaramaiah lashed out at Home Minister Araga Jnanendra and said, "He is the most irresponsible Home Minister. He should learn to speak responsibly. Otherwise he should resign."

The Home Department should ensure law and order, maintain peace and harmony in the society, and act against those committing crimes, but "If the Home Minister himself disturbs peace with his remarks and further confuses the public, what would be the ramifications?" he added.

Asked about the possible entry of poll strategist Prashant Kishor into the party, he said, "I don't have an idea. Unless I know personally, how can I react". ONE JOB PER FAMILY IF JDS GETS FULL MAJORITY: HDK

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Shivamogga

Former chief minister and senior JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy said that one person in every family will get a job if his party gets full majority in the forthcoming Assembly elections.

Kumaraswamy alleged that 65 per cent of the grants released from the government is squandered as commission and works are completed only with the remaining funds.

Addressing a 'Janata Jaladhare' programme at Kumsi on Friday, Kumaraswamy said he will dissolve the party if he fails to walk the talk. Kumaraswamy said that he has come out with plans pertaining to education, health, housing, employment and self-reliant life. The programmes will be revealed after the ongoing 'Janata Jaladhare' march ends in a fortnight.

"If you give JDS the full majority, school students in villages across the state will provide free education from LKG to Class 12. Hospitals were in a bad state during Covid-19. A 30-bedded hospital will be constructed in all gram panchayats," he said. "I have planned several schemes during Covid-19. Every family will be given employment. Village women will be helped to start their own business. Each family will be given their own house," he said

JDS jittery after 2 Vokkaliga MLAs skip meet

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @Bengaluru

THE JDS party which was upbeat following the launch of 'Janata Jaladhare' programme and also having a senior leader CM Ibrahim back in its fold as the new state unit chief has continued to face the internal bickering as two of its MLAs skipped the event on Thursday.

The absence of Arsikere MLA KM Shivalinge Gowda and Arakalagudu's AT Ramaswamy, a known crusader against the land maffia, left both former Prime Minister HD Deve Gowda and former Chief Minister HD Kumaraswamy seething as they criticised their own MLAs.

According to sources both Gowda and Ramaswamy were on good terms with the leader of opposition Siddaramaiah and the KPCC president DK Shivakumar respectively. Already the JDS has suspended Kolar MLA K Srinivasa Gowda as he had declared that he will join the Congress party.

Meanwhile, Deve Gowda still pins his hopes on retaining some of the disgruntled party MLAs as he had reportedly convinced Melukote MLA C S Puttaraju. But in case of Chamundeshwari MLA G T Deve Gowda it would be tough to convince him as he had already made up his mind and has abstained from the party activities, sources told TNIE.

With most of the Vokkaliga leaders on their way to bidding adieu to the party the SC leaders who have won from the reserved constituencies are likely to remain in the party as the Dalit and Vokkaliga combination work out in their favour.

Evidently, the MLAs Ashwin Kumar of T Narasipura, Dr K Annadani of Malavalli, Dr Srinivasamurthy of Nelamangala, Nisarga Narayanaswamy L N of Devanahalli and H K Kumaraswamy of Sakaleshpura have shown strong loyalty to the party. Speaking to TNIE, Ibrahim expressed hope of convincing G T Deve Gowda to stay as he is an asset to the party.

A TOUCHY ISSUE

TDB authority, not Kerala govt, to manage Sabarimala, says HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

THE Travancore Devaswom Board (TDB), not the state government, is the competent authority to make regulations for the maintainance of order and decorum at Sabarimala, and for the due observance of the religious rites and ceremonies performed at the temple, the Kerala High Court said on Friday. The court also ordered that the Board should take over the virtual queue platform presently owned and managed by the Kerala Police with the technical support of the Tata Consultancy Services.

"Kerala Police cannot own the domain name -- sabarimalaonline.org -- or display any advertisement on that web portal and earn revenue. It should be owned and controlled by the TDB," held the Devaswom Bench comprising Justice Anil K Narendran and Justice P G Ajithkumar.

The bench issued the order while disposing of a suo motu case and other petitions against the virtual queue management for the Sabarimala pilgrimage by the Kerala Police alleging data leakage.

In view of the provisions under the Travancore Cochin Hindu Religious Institutions Act, it is the duty of the TDB to see that the regular traditional rights and ceremonies in the temple are performed properly, and to establish and maintain sufficient facilities for the devotees. The Board has to manage the properties and affairs of the devaswoms and arrange for the conduct of daily worship and ceremonies in every temple.

"Unlike other temples in India, crowd management and maintenance of law and order in Sabarimala during pilgrim season and monthly poojas is a challenging task, which can only be handled by the police. Considering the fact that the temple is situated in a difficult forest terrain prone to natural disasters, the presence of police is necessary even at the 18 holy steps to render assistance to devotees, especially children, senior citizens and also persons with disabilities. Crowd management at Sabarimala cannot be handled with the limited number of TDB employees, who are deputed on special duty. For managing such a huge crowd, it is imperative that the police have access to the database in the virtual queue platform. When specific security threat inputs have been received in respect of Sabarimala temple, the police will have to take preventive action after screening and verifying the database," held the court.

Verification of virtual queue tickets and other related matters should be the responsibility of the Kerala Police as part of the crowd management.

"The access to any personal data in a virtual queue platform by police for crowd management will in no manner infringe the right to privacy of devotees," held the court.

Akhila Bharatha Ayyappa Seva Sangham national vice-president D Vijayakumar said the verdict reaffirmed the TDB's autonomous power in the temple's day-to-day administration.

He said the Board should ensure a pilgrim-friendly atmosphere for the devotees, particularly those who come from other states for darshan.

Child welfare ccommittee, Juvenile Justice Boards to get new members

SHILPA P @Bengaluru

AFTER a two-year delay, crucial appointments are likely to be made to major bodies for the protection of child rights, Child Welfare Committees (CWC) and Juvenile Justice Boards (JJB) of all 31 districts in Karnataka. The appointments will be made in a month's time, according to Director of Integrated Child Protection Scheme (ICPS), Department of Women and Child Development, Latha Kumari.

The lengthy delay in appointment of members – 38 to CWCs and 31 to JJBs -- is attributed to three main reasons. Two members appointed to the selection committee to select members of CWCs and JJBs, on August 6, 2020, on the recommendation of the then women and child development minister, were dismissed after a writ petition was filed against them in the High Court. The HC passed an order on September 3, 2021, that they were not eligible for the positions. Two retired high court judges who were appointed chairpersons of the selection committee have resigned. A week ago, retired HC judge Justice H G Ramesh was appointed chairman.

A full-fledged committee is now in place – comprising ICPS Director Latha Kumari, two members from NGOs, including Vasudeva Sharma of Child Rights Trust, Dulseen Kaastra of Shanthi Sadana, academicians Dr B N Roopesh, Assistant Professor, HOD, Social Work, Krishnadevaraya University, and Dr Gowri Maanik Maanas, Assistant Professor, Clinical Psychology division, Nimhans, and Ashok Yaragatti from the Karnataka Commission for Protection of Child Rights. With this, the crucial appointments of chairperson and four members for each Child Welfare Committee, a principal magistrate and two members for each Juvenile Justice Board, are likely to happen soon.

CWCs, which handle care and protection of children in crisis, and JJBs, which handle cases of juveniles in conflict with the law, appointed in October 2017, had completed their three-year term in September 2020.

Additional officers for B'luru

According to Latha Kumari, they have got permission to have an additional Child Protection Officer and constitute four additional Child Welfare Committees (along with existing three CWCs) to handle cases in Bengaluru, going by its population.

TACKLING CHALLENGE OF WEAK CREDIT GROWTH AMID RATE HIKE CYCLE

The twin balance sheet problem (bad loans of banks and high corporate debt) is nearly behind us, yet robust credit growth appears to be a low percentage shot during the current fiscal. Latest RBI data pegs FY22 bank credit at 8.6% or thereabouts, indicating an extremely slow recovery and miles behind the 14–16% growth seen in the last decade. While improved asset quality of banks and deleveraging corporate balance sheets are encouraging, rising inflation could throw a nasty surprise. We are heading into a rate hike cycle amid weak credit growth, which has been below the trendline for over five years on a trot. Prior to the Covid-19 pandemic, the Indian economy slowed down due to a weakening corporate capex cycle, and this was accentuated by demonetisation, GST implementation and the NBFC crisis. In FY22, loan growth did recover, but signs of a complete rebound in the capex cycle are still not visible. Interestingly, lenders appear bullish, but big borrowers are yet to warm up to the so-called 'capex mahotsav' theme. It means demand uncertainty and high inflation only point to slower loan growth and higher pressure on margins.

As history shows us, borrowers' confidence influences the credit cycle more than policy rates themselves. Companies take out loans even during a rate hike cycle provided they are confident about cash flows. Even though banks' overall loan books are better than during the pandemic years, recovery isn't uniform with at least two key segments, namely corporates and the self-employed, especially in the services sector, yet to overcome the financial trauma caused by Covid lockdowns. Disappointingly, we are witnessing high inflation well before loan growth has begun in full strength or even before it has regained pre-slowdown levels. Liquidity is abundant and interest rates have generally been benign, but the question is to what extent will the RBI's action to curb inflation through interest rate hikes delay the recovery in bank credit, which in turn depends on strong economic growth. Policymakers must ensure that rate hikes as a response to inflation doesn't eventually hurt demand.

ADDRESS ROOT CAUSE OF ROAD ACCIDENTS

On April 18, a 46-year-old deputy manager of a reputed bank was killed when a speeding garbage truck contracted by the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike rammed into her two-wheeler and ran over her, killing her instantly. In a typical official reaction to such incidents, the BBMP Chief Commissioner announced that fitness certificates will be made mandatory for all vehicles, besides assuring the deceased's family that compensation would be given.

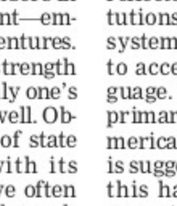
The compensation apart, speaking about making fitness certificates mandatory for vehicles under the civic body as a solution to the menace of road accidents is like prescribing a medicine for a skin allergy while the patient is actually suffering a cardiac arrest. Most road accidents occur not because of the fitness of a vehicle or the lack of it, but due to rash and negligent driving of motorists. It is not surprising that India, with 1% of the global vehicle population, accounts for more than 10% of global road deaths. According to a Ministry of Road Transport and Highways report, between 2015 and 2019, annually, an average of 1,49,472 people died and 4,77,331 were injured in 4,72,606 road accidents across India.

The root of the problem lies in the various regional transport offices (RTOs), which are known to be beehives of corruption. Their network of corruption includes a string of motor driving schools under their respective jurisdictions, which are known to help even ineligible candidates obtain a driver's licence despite knowing their incapabilities. The result is that they grant licences to those who are downright dangerous to other motorists and pedestrians. If not rash, a sizable section of licensed drivers on Indian roads are at least ignorant about basic traffic and road safety rules.

Governments needs to implement the stringent penalties in the revised Motor Vehicles Act to deter people from careless driving. More so, it needs to tackle the menace of drunk driving, deaths due to which need to be treated as murder. For that, the traffic authorities need to wake up to a fact: Accidents do not happen, they are caused. So, it is that cause that needs to be eliminated.

The federal texture of our polity, which is already under strain on various fronts, will be further weakened by the perceived hegemony of Hindi

LIMITS OF STATE POWER IN LANGUAGE POLICY



K JAYAKUMAR

Former Kerala chief secretary and ex-VC, Thunchath Ezhuthachan Malayalam University

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Governments survive and act on the notion that the state is omnipotent, omniscient and omnipresent. Of course, a sovereign state has constitutional legitimacy and legislative authority backed by the executive machinery, muscle and financial resources to be omnipotent and omnipresent. It can lawfully interfere with the lives of individuals and their guaranteed freedoms for larger causes. In our democracy, anchored in an elaborate and sensitive Constitution, the tendency of the state to play the Almighty is properly curbed, though all governments instinctively try to weaken these restrictive and cautionary strands. In our history of the past seven decades, we have often witnessed governments in power—at the Centre and states, emboldened by electoral victories and the advantage of numbers in Legislature and Parliament—embarking on policy misadventures. It is often said that real strength lies in recognising not only one's power but limitations as well. Oblivious to the limitations of state power and obsessed with its might, governments have often invited social disquiet through myopic policies. Nowhere is this folly proven more strikingly than in matters that touch people's culture, faith and emotion. Language is one such emotive domain where the authority-driven decisions of the state have floundered in the past and shall falter in the future.

The recent observation by Union Home Minister Amit Shah on the desirability of Hindi as the link language and discontinuing the use of English is a typical example of power overlooking limitations. In a multi-linguistic mosaic that is India, any policy prescription on language by those in authority is fraught with dangers. Every state in India created on linguistic lines is proud of their tongue. Almost all Indian languages have a rich heritage and vibrant literature. With 22 constitutionally recognised languages, we as a nation have survived and walked together by devising unique communication strategies. These preferences are reflected in our educational institutions, official communication systems, and in our willingness to accept and respect each language. The moment one tongue, primarily on the basis of the numerical strength of the speakers, is suggested as the link language, this hard-won accommodative peace is unnecessarily disturbed and ominously threatened. English, though a foreign tongue, is as much Indian today as any other Indian language. Over a period of time, non-Hindi speaking people have found English to be the most convenient medium to communicate across language barriers.

It is important to remember that this arrangement did not come about following any government diktat. It is the outcome of operational convenience. People follow what is comfortable and convenient in matters of culture and language and not what the government directs. This is not a paean for English or a denunciation of Hindi. The latter is a rich and beautiful language and is appreciated by all Indians without any hesitation. That acceptance is of course not the outcome of the Hindi promotion policy of the government. More than any government, it is the Bollywood films and songs that have done great service to Hindi and won it widespread and willing acceptance. But the moment the government intervenes and commands, 'from now onwards Hindi shall be the link language', the equation changes.

English as the link language is an admirable arrangement that has come to stay. It developed spontaneously and is being practised willingly. Any suggestion to tinker with it is unwise and unwanted. In matters related to language, the last word has never been that of the government

Languages in the states too have flourished not because of government policies and support but by the cumulative contribution of the writers, performers, cinema, print media, TV, publishing houses and other non-state interventions. Of course, governments have a role in ensuring a language gets its rightful place in education and administration. Many states have done well to protect and promote their mother tongues against the social poaching of English at the expense of the mother tongue. The National Educational Policy (NEP) 2020 has rightly underscored the need for encouraging education in the mother tongue. It may not be entirely misplaced if this prescription in the NEP is interpreted as a long-term strategy to ensure the hegemony of Hindi. No one can be blamed if the home minister's wish to replace English with Hindi as the link language is seen as part of a larger design.

As mentioned earlier, no Indian is against Hindi or for that matter any other language, but even the faint suggestion of imposition of a language backed with the authority of the state instantly touches raw nerves. It is not because there is anything against a language. It is the role of the government and the perceived intent that evoke resentment. In the present instance, the suggestion to replace English with Hindi is rebuffed and resented not out of love for the former but out of the fear of hegemony of a majority language. It might also have cultural connotations in the present climate of mistrust. English on the other hand is culture neutral. The federal texture of our polity, which is already under strain on various fronts, will be weakened by the perceived hegemony of Hindi. The apparently innocent suggestion of the home minister with umpteen ramifications has been predictably seen as yet another instrument for over-centralisation.

English as the link language is an admirable arrangement that has come to stay. It developed spontaneously and is being practised willingly. Any suggestion to tinker with it (for whatever reason) is unwise and unwanted. The country has hundreds of painful issues craving for the attention of the mighty state. In matters relating to language, the last word has never been that of the government.

POLICE MUST BE PART OF REFORM AGENDA

JAYAT JOSHI

Don Lavoie Fellow at the Mercatus Center, George Mason University

Last month, an online news portal released an investigative report on the police repression of Adivasis in Jharkhand. According to it, between late 2019 and 2022, 33 people were allegedly subjected to police atrocities that ranged from torture, sexual abuse and beatings to custodial deaths. More than 20 of these suspects hailed from tribal communities. Officials in charge have either ordered or promised probes, but these seem to have reprieved the perpetrators. Additionally, the report recorded a perception of police postings having been turned into politically orchestrated auctions.

The Jharkhand incident can be seen alongside a string of similar instances where the police resorted to unchecked, extra-legal measures—alleged fake encounters of criminals, custodial deaths, organised delays in the judicial process, and violence against poor, vulnerable groups to enforce the Covid lockdown.

Last year, India celebrated the 30th anniversary of its landmark economic liberalisation reforms. But crucial as they were, these measures have already run their course. To sustain the process initiated by the architects of the 1991 reforms, we need to bring in structural improvements in the delivery of public goods. An important area for this is judicial and law enforcement services. The current Chief Economic Advisor V Anantha Nageswaran says that issues of this kind have asymmetric payoffs. Although tackling them may not explicitly add a lot, leaving them out will pose a greater downside risk to projected growth.

Law and liberty are pillars of a nation's democracy as well as its economic growth. Economic freedom works best when the underlying rules of the game ensure the protection of contracts, public accountability and procedural robustness. In contrast, an internally hollow law enforcement apparatus implies the erosion of basic rights, endlessly ongoing trials and feeble criminal convictions. Instead of being a public good, the police system dwells in the dark underbelly of the state and turns on the very citizenry it is responsible to protect.

To unpack this, we must first take stock. The glaring problems with the present state of policing are understaffing and the lack of infrastructure. In what Shruti Rajagopalan and Alex Tabarrok term 'India's flailing state', the number of police per capita is merely 135 per 1,00,000, one of the lowest in the world. A considerable portion of this is assigned as security detail to VIPs across states. Unsurprisingly, external political interference abounds in police functioning. This paucity has perverse outcomes: deterrence signals and punitive measures become extreme, public discourse becomes illiberal, and these have secondary effects in the form of extrajudicial killings and long-drawn trials. There is another side to this overburdening. In addition to persisting vacancies in recruitment, an expansive set of responsibilities is accorded to personnel, from crime prevention and maintenance of law and order to traffic management and disaster relief. Furthermore, the centralisation of power entails a consistently increasing regulatory burden on departments that lack the capacity to match it. On top of this is the erratic enforcement of many petty civil violations as criminal charges.

Institutional change is inseparable from economic reforms. Law and liberty are pillars of a nation's democracy as well as its economic growth. Economic freedom works best when the underlying rules of the game ensure the protection of contracts, procedural robustness, etc. ... The glaring problems with the present state of policing are understaffing and the lack of infrastructure

Over the years, several expert panels like the Second Administrative Reforms Commission have made recommendations to address areas of weakness in policing. Ostensibly, these reforms have been impeded due to the thoroughly politicised nature of policing. Sitting legislators, more so those with pending charges against them, hardly have the will to enable institutional change. Instead, their interests capture and motivate the police machinery to oblige proponents and discipline opponents.

The reasonable policy response to the problems described above is to decentralise the operation of the police force. Yet, experience shows that there is plenty of scope for this trend to go awry as well. In an article re-evaluating community policing, Pete Boettke, Jayme Lemke and Liya Palagashvili deal with this issue in great detail. According to them, "policing takes place within a system of nested games that has increasingly prioritised federal initiatives over community safety." For this reason, even in a setup that is purportedly decentralised, the logic of action can be regulated from the top. Moreover, there may already exist actual practices that approximate this kind of 'decentralisation', but because they are not legitimated by the power elite, they often get dismissed as patron-clientelism. In reality, they represent instances of a publicly realised solution being driven underground. In yet another way, 'participatory' policies may descend into a contest among various interest groups with allied or conflicting goals.

Boettke et al. place this careful caveat before us, but the ideal for them is still a federal, polycentric mode of organisation. This implies a system where decision-making is distributed across multiple, autonomous centres. Community policing ought to be the answer to questions of public safety, but only if the public has control over this service in a real sense. In other words, to address a collective-action problem, the incentives to enforce solutions must be compatible with the larger institutional incentives. In the US, a reckoning is due for the police with respect to its intense hierarchisation and militarisation. A similar reckoning has been long overdue in India, too. For our police system to break free from the triad of past modes of organisation, political interference and public apathy, the current leadership must highly regard the value of institutional freedom while pushing for necessary change.

Kishor's suggestion

Prashant Kishor's suggestion that the Congress should have a non-Gandhi president is interesting (Apr 22). It is strange that the same person who was instrumental in bringing about a government led by the BJP in 2014 is now giving strategic advice to the party it dethroned. How sincere he would be is anybody's guess. Leaders in the grand old party with many, many years of experience may find it difficult to digest the fact that a person who has been associated with politics for only a few years might be dictating terms.

Initiate UCC discussion

This is with reference to Time for a fresh start with Uniform Civil Code (Apr 21). Though many in the Constituent Assembly felt that there was a strong need for a UCC in India, due to objections from Muslim members and considering the need for of goodwill from all communities, it was kept in abeyance and included in the Directive Principles instead. This was to allow society to have enough time to think about the subject. An impression has been created that the UCC is in the interests of the majority community. If Goa can have a UCC, why is it not possible for other states in India? It is time that the government initiates steps for its implementation by involving all stakeholders.

Punish corrupt authorities

This is with reference to Selective demolitions bring no glory to the nation (Apr 21). The bulldozers are at work again to demolish allegedly unauthorised shanties, shops and residences built on government lands in several states. Though it appears unpleasant, both the authorities and occupants are equally responsible. The government lands are encroached upon by the influential people of the area who have political connections and then even multi-storey houses are constructed with the connivance of officials by greasing their palms. It is incumbent upon the government to punish not only the occupants but also the officials who allowed gullible people to reside in buildings built on encroached land.

Freebies imperil economy

It is unfortunate that many state governments give various freebies before elections to appease voters. This is detrimental to the country's economic prospects. Political parties should stop spending money on such programmes. It is high time we said no to freebies and realise that our nation's economy will otherwise be in peril.

MSD the finisher is back

Much to the delight of the fans of Chennai Super Kings, M S Dhoni the finisher was on view in the game against Mumbai Indians. The former Indian captain turned back the clock to script another famous win for CSK against its arch-rival. With 16 required in the last four balls, Dhoni, with his customary cool, knocked off those runs in style. The ultimate finisher is back with a bang.

Modi, Johnson set Diwali deadline for India-UK free trade pact

Both nations also agree to new partnership in working together on undersea capabilities in the Indo-Pacific, helicopters, development of Indian-made fighter jets

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

AS a run-up to the Free Trade Agreement (FTA) between India and the UK, which Prime Minister Boris Johnson optimistically stated would be done by Diwali this year, six MoUs were inked between the two nations on Friday.

Johnson, on the final day of his two-day visit to India, said the FTA could double India-UK trade by 2030 and drive down consumer prices.

"Today Prime Minister Modi and I told our negotiators to get it done by Diwali in October," said Johnson. "This could double our trade and investment by the end of the decade, driving down prices for consumers, and increasing wages across the UK by as much as 3 billion pounds," he said.

On the eve of the visit, officials had confirmed that four out of 26 chapters within the FTA have been finalised during the first two rounds since the negotiations began in January and "significant progress" has been made in the remaining 22 chapters.

"We have discussed in detail our strategic and defence partnerships. We also spoke about a free trade deal between the two nations. This will be ready by the year-end. This will be on similar lines as that of the India-Australia free trade agreement that we signed recently," Prime Minister Modi said.

The third round of talks between the negotiating teams is set to begin next week.

The visiting British Prime Minister, who was welcomed by Modi with a Guard of Honour at Rashtrapati Bhavan earlier on Friday, pointed out that Indian investment already supports almost half a million British jobs, and with India's population bigger than the US and the European Union combined, there is a lot of potential to take India-UK trade to a "whole new level".

"Our new and expanded Defence and Security Partnership will enable India to strengthen its own domestic defence industry as well as protecting vital shared interests in the Indo-Pacific," said Johnson.

Meanwhile, a Downing Street readout described the Johnson-Modi talks at Hyderabad House in New Delhi as "in-depth", during which Johnson thanked Modi for the 'opportunity to visit the great nation of India again'.

"The leaders agreed to a new partnership in defence and security, including working together on undersea capabilities in the Indo-Pacific, helicopters, the development of Indian-made fighter jets and other defence equipment," a Downing Street spokesperson said.

Home Minister Amit Shah examines weapons at a police meet in Bhopal | PTI

Shah for common police database, tech-savvy forces

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhopal

HOME Minister Amit Shah has advised police forces across the country to maintain a common databse in order to be 'two steps ahead' of criminals.

He was speaking at the inauguration of the 48th All India Police Science Congress on Friday. "Each state should have uniform set of wireless technology, CCTV network and access to data and real-time data sharing among each other," he said. For this, Shah added, the police force has to be specifically trained and methods have to be modernised.

The two-day event is held at the Central Academy of Police Training in Bhopal. "Every state should revive its confidential informants system and have proper dog and horse squads," Shah said.

He also said that the image of the police force has to change. "British era danda-based policing is over. It's time to have knowledge and technology-based logical policing."

The minister said that in the last eight years, the Narendra Modi government has almost settled the Kashmir issue, and also resolved Naxalism and narocotics problem in the North East region. "After the abrogation of Article 370, large-scale development is happening in Jammu & Kashmir," he said.

Madhya Pradesh CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan was also present. For the first time, event is being attended by police forces, units, social scientists, forensic experts and other stakeholders along with the officers of the department of correctional administration.

The objective of the programme is to provide a common platform to deliberate on selected themes of topical interests to the Indian police, an official said. Papers were presented on various themes, including policing during the pandemic, skills of investigators and aid of technology and human resource management.

FILE FRESH HATE SPEECH AFFIDAVIT: SC TELLS DELHI COPS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday expressed displeasure over an affidavit filed by Delhi Police and asked it to file a 'better' affidavit on the alleged hate speech at a Dharam Sansad event in Delhi in December 2021. The police had said that no hate speech was made during the event.

"The affidavit has been filed by the Deputy Commissioner of Police. We hope he has understood the nuances. Has he merely reproduced the inquiry report or applied his mind? Is it your stand as well or the reproduction of an inquiry report of a sub-inspector level officer?" a bench of Justices A M Khanwilkar and Abhay S Oka asked.

Additional Solicitor General (ASG) K M Nataraj, appearing for Delhi Police, said they will have a "re-look" and file a fresh affidavit. "The ASG seeks time to get instructions from authorities to file a better affidavit. List this matter on May 9. Better affidavit be filed on or before May 4," the bench said.

The court was hearing a petition filed by journalist Qurban Ali and former Patna High Court judge and senior advocate Anjana Prakash, who has also sought a direction for an "independent, credible and impartial investigation" by an SIT into incidents of hate speeches against the Muslim community.

Senior advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for the petitioners, said, "In the speech in question, they say, 'We are ready to kill'. Delhi Police says it is to 'save the ethics of the community'. Your Lordships may decide what constitutionally ethics are."

2 Ukrainians detained from Delhi-bound train in Assam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

TWO foreigners claiming to be Ukrainian nationals were detained in Assam's Karimganj district on Friday after the Government Railway Police (GRP) found them travelling without valid papers.

Chrisinsky Volodimir, 39, and Nazari Voznyuk, 21, were on board the Agartala-New Delhi Tripura Sundari Express when they were detained at Badarpur, police said, adding that the GRP personnel spotted the duo during a routine checking of trains.

Some Bangladeshi currency notes were recovered from their possession, indicating they could have visited the neighbouring country.

Karimganj Superintendent of Police Padmanabh Baruah said the two men told the police they were en route to Delhi. "The duo said they had lost their travel documents. So, we contacted the Ukrainian embassy to verify records. Till it is confirmed, they will remain in detention," Baruah said. "They claimed that they had moved out of Ukraine before the war with Russia began (in February end). It is not known how they managed to enter Tripura and from where. They could not explain it either. There are gaps in their statements."

The SP said the police would wait for response till Friday night from the Ukrainian embassy. "If the records were not received, a case would be registered against the two for illegally entering India."

'Import of medicine raw materials down by 25%'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

INDIA'S import dependency on raw materials for medicine has reduced by 25 per cent because of increased domestic manufacturing, Union Minister Mansukh Mandaviya claimed on Friday.

Without naming China, which accounts for about 66 per cent of India's APIs (active pharmaceutical ingredients) imports, Mandaviya said there was a 25 per cent decline in import of crucial starting materials, APIs, and drug intermediates because of an increase in domestic production.

"India does not want to be dependent on any country for its critical requirements," the minister said to media queries on how much India could reduce its import dependency from China.

To prevent a crisis caused by a disruption in supplies of imported APIs or an increase in prices, he said, India sought to encourage local manufacture of 53 critical bulk drugs by offering financial incentives to pharmaceutical companies.

Theatrisation of Indian armed forces gets delayed

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

INDIA'S biggest military transformation exercise to integrate all the forces into theatres is facing a delay. The differences between the three forces and the death of Chief of Defence Staff Bipin Rawat in a helicopter crash in December last year have prolonged the theatrisation exercise.

A committee headed by CDS and comprising the vice-chiefs of the Army, Navy and the Air force, chief of integrated defence staff and the representatives of the defence and other ministries was formed in June 2021 to sort out the differences over some key issues.

"There were a series of presentations scheduled for the months of February, March and April which were to be attended by the Late CDS," said a source. The final presentation was due in May, had things gone as per the plan. But with a new CDS yet to be appointed following Gen Rawat's death, it is going to take more time, the source added.

One of the main differences that have protracted the finalisation of the process is the IAF's reluctance over distribution of resources. It has highlighted that of the 42 combat squadrons sanctioned, the IAF operates with just about 30.

With the present system of the 17 commands of the three wings spread out geographically considered unsuitable for modern war which need an integrated approach, the Modi government had decided to go for the biggest post-Independence military restructuring.

Charges are severe till proven not guilty: Rao told

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

THE Bombay High Court has rejected permanent medical bail to activist-poet Varavara Rao, an accused in the Bhima Koregaon-Elgar Parishad case. In an order on Friday, the high court said the seriousness of the accusations against the octogenarian remains the same until he is pronounced not guilty.

The 33-page order passed by a bench of Justices GA Sanap and Sunil Shukre said Rao's clinical summary clearly indicated that a majority of his health problems have been taken care of following treatment.

"The seriousness and severity of the crime would remain till such time the accused is pronounced not guilty of the crime alleged to have been committed by him. The role attributed to the accused is serious. He is one of the main conspirators. Therefore, in our opinion, on medical grounds the accused is not entitled to get bail," the high court said.

The high court stated, "Allegations against Rao and his involvement in the commission of crime have remained unchanged. Prima facie, in view of the evidence to support the complicity of the accused in the crime, has not changed. On perusal of the case and the evidence produced, it seems the accused is part of the larger conspiracy."

The high court said that after the completion of three months of temporary medical bail, Rao has to surrender before the Taloja jail authority. The court asked the state government to appoint prison medical officers, nursing staff, and arrange other facilities for the health issues faced by prisoners.

No SC relief for Nawab Malik in laundering case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mumbai

THE Supreme Court on Friday refused to entertain a bail application filed by Maharashtra minister Nawab Malik, challenging his arrest by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA), 2005.

Senior advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for Malik, questioned the applicability of PMLA in the case. "There is no predicate offence here," he said. "And they arrested him in 2022 for something that happened in 1999."

The top court said Malik should approach a lower court.

"We are not inclined to exercise jurisdiction under Article 136 when the investigation is at a nascent stage. You can apply for bail before an appropriate court," the Supreme Court bench said.

The Central probe agency had arrested Malik on February 23 in a probe connected to a money laundering case over an alleged land transaction concerning an aide of Dawood Ibrahim. The minister has been in custody since.

On March 15, the Bombay HC had rejected Malik's interim application seeking immediate release, saying just because the special PMLA court's order remanding him in custody is not in his favour, it does not make that order illegal or wrong.

After Malik's plea was rejected by the Supreme Court, Maharashtra BJP said his presence in the Aghadi government in spite of the allegations and court rulings is an insult to the state.

Railways to install 65K smart display screens at 2K stations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

WITH more than 2.2 crore passengers travelling daily by trains from over 7,000 stations in India, the railways has decided to install 65,000 digital display screens at 2,000 stations to ensure round-the-clock display of train timings, running status and other passenger-related information.

These digital display screens would be installed at strategic points at foot overbridges, platforms, waiting rooms and concourses at all selected stations under the Railway Display Network (RDN) project. Railtel, a Central PSU, has been entrusted with the task of executing the mega project, tenders for which have been floated.

The information provided to passengers through these large screens and video walls will be in the form of audio, video, live or recorded messages. The information to be displayed will include train arrival/departure, platform, passenger amenities, passenger safety and security, emergency messages, messages related to disaster management, infotainment and social messages.

According to RailTel CMD Puneet Chawla, the project for installation of next generation 'centralised, connected smart display network' at stations will revolutionise the information to Railway users.

The project will be taken up at all categories of stations, including A1, A, B and C. "It is targeted to be completed in two years after the award of contract. The project will be implemented and managed by RailTel through selected RDN Business Associate(s) over a period of 10 years, which may be extended for another five years on mutually acceptable terms and conditions," he said.

In addition, a mobile application will also be developed that will enhance the utility and benefits of RDN and aid the passenger experience across the journey. Passengers will receive all railway related information along with specific content, Chawla said.

Nitish at RJD Iftar creates a political storm

Amid widening rift between alliance partners BJP & JD-U, Bihar CM makes the move ahead of Amit Shah's visit

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

IN a rare show of bonhomie that sent a shocker through the power corridors of Bihar, Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Friday attended an Iftar party hosted by former CM and RJD leader Rabri Devi at her Patna residence.

The JD-U chief's presence at arch rival RJD's Iftar party has got tongues wagging as it happens at a time when the relation between BJP and the JD-U — the two NDA allies — is sour on a plethora of issues ranging from law and order to prohibition and caste census.

The development assumed further significance as it occurred a day before Union Home Minister Amit Shah's visit to the state.

During the Iftar meeting, Nitish was seen talking to Leader of the Opposition Tejashwi Prasad Yadav and they even exchanged pleasantries. What transpired between the two could not be known immediately.

State industries minister Syed Shahnawaz Hussain and Jamui MP Chirag Paswan were also present at the Iftar meet.

RJD sources said the Iftar has been organised at 10, Circular Road residence of the former CM after a gap of five years. Coincidentally, RJD supremo Lalu Prasad was on Friday granted bail by a Jharkhand court in connection with another fodder scam case.

RJD spokesperson Mritunjay Tiwari said it is a "day of merriment" for the party, which is emboldened after the results of Bochaha bypoll and legislative council elections. Earlier, Tiwari had said, "Khela shuru ho chuka hai. Dekhte rahiye aage agge hota hai kya (The game has started. See what happens next)".

Lalu Prasad's elder son Tej Pratap Yadav had also invited Amit Shah to the Iftar party. Besides, Vikassheel Insaan Party chief Mukesh Shahani, who was dropped from the Nitish cabinet recently, was also invited.

Both Chirag and Sahani are not in good terms with the BJP. Last Friday, Nitish had organised an Iftar at his residence.

RAJASTHAN BULLDOZING

Cong-BJP blame game over temple demolition

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

POLITICS has heated up in the desert state after a bulldozer was run over a temple during an anti-encroachment drive in Alwar district. While the BJP said the state's ruling Congress was doing "revenge politics", the latter retaliated by pointing out that the temple demolition was initiated by a BJP-ruled municipality board.

The Rajgarh administration claimed that action was taken to remove encroachments according to the town's master plan. According to revenue records, there was a road of about 60 feet but now it is not even 25-foot-wide. Over the years, there have been a lot of encroachments, the town administration said.

Meanwhile, Hindu organisations accused Congress MLA Johri Lal Meena, SDM Keshav Kumar Meena and EO Banwari Lal Meena of collusion to demolish the temple. They alleged the police didn't file an FIR despite their complaint.

While the chairman of the municipality board said the action was taken at the level of the administration, local officials claimed a resolution to clear the encroachment was passed by the municipality.

A video of MLA Meena is going viral on social media. In the video, he is seen telling people that they had elected a BJP board and that was why the demolition happened. He claimed in the video that 34 councillors of the BJP gave their consent to remove the encroachments while the Congress had only one councillor.

District Collector Nakate Shivprasad said the decision to take up the demolition drive was made unanimously in the second meeting of the newly elected Municipality Board.

"Action was taken on two temples. One temple, which was built recently, was standing on top of an existing drain. The idols installed in the private temple built over the drain were taken away by the temple authorities themselves before the encroachment was removed. Only a negligible part of the second temple was demolished," the collector said.

SIGNS OF EARLY POLLS IN GUJARAT?

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

A flurry of visits by senior BJP leaders and Central ministers to Gujarat has given rise to speculations that the ruling party may call for early elections in the state where the tenure of current Assembly ends early next year.

The second half of this month has seen PM Modi spending three days in the state and launching a slew of projects. This was followed by the visit of the saffron party's Gujarat in-charge and Union labour minister Bhupender Yadav on Thursday. Union minister Anurag Thakur arrived in the state on Friday. Moreover, BJP national president JP Nadda is expected in the state on April 26.

Political pundits feel the BJP is planning early election in the state to deny the opposition any time to prepare.

"It is important to note how the PM's programme was preponed from April 20 to 18. Immediately after his departure, Bhupendra Yadav landed here. Today he convened a meeting of Gujarat ministers. State BJP president was also present at the meeting. Moreover, JP Nadda is coming next week. All these point towards one direction and that is early election," said analyst Mani-Lal Patel.

Political analyst Dilip Patel, however, said the possibility of an early election is slim. "There is no rival for BJP in Gujarat. In fact, all decisions concerning Gujarat are made by Prime Minister Modi and as per his nature we have observed so far, he will not declare early elections under any circumstances."

HARDIK PRAISES BJP, SAYS HE IS A HINDUTVA LEADER

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Ahmedabad

IN an apparent signalling of his intention to move towards the BJP, Patidar leader and Gujarat Congress working president Hardik Patel on Friday claimed he is a "Hindutva" leader and praised the saffron party for abrogating Article 370 in Jammu and Kashmir and constructing Ram Temple in Ayodhya.

Notably, the BJP returned the gesture within hours by praising the influential Patidar leader for his "courage" to speak out.

During a media interaction on Friday, Hardik said the Congress leaders in Gujarat lacked decision-making power. Hardik further said he had talked to the high command about the leadership issues in Gujarat Congress. "If the Congress does not do well now and the ruling party does well, then the people will become pro-government. Young people need to know which way to go," he said.

Refuting that he was in talks with the ruling party, Hardik said: "I am not talking to the BJP but I accept the good things done by the party. BJP repealed Article 370 in Jammu and Kashmir and now, good deeds like construction of Ram Mandir are going on. These all should be commended".

Stating that Gujarat has given him everything, Hardik said, "My intention is clear. It is to do what I can to take Gujarat forward. People connect me with Kejriwal, BJP, Congress. All options are open."

Meanwhile, BJP state chief CR Patil, during a bike rally in Narmada district, said, "Millions of people have joined the BJP to work for the country. Hardik Patel has praised the BJP's performance. Many Congress leaders want to do the same but do not dare. Hardik has dared. I applaud his courage and am happy to hear what he said about BJP."

Aghadi, BJP spar over power crisis

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AMID power outages in parts of Maharashtra mainly due to coal supply disruption, a blame game has started with the Opposition BJP locking horns with the state government over "mismanagement" of energy generation and supply.

Maharashtra Energy Minister Nitin Raut acknowledged the state's failure to generate sufficient power, warning that consumers not paying their bills will have to face longer power cuts.

Raut blamed the Union government for not giving adequate coal stocks to the industrial state.

"The Centre wants us to clear the ₹2,200-crore dues before resuming the coal supply. We have limited coal stocks and have requested the Centre to provide us with enough numbers of train wagons to transport coal, but they are not doing that," Raut said.

Deputy chief minister Ajit Pawar said Maharashtra would soon buy coal from Chhattisgarh and abroad.

Senior BJP leader Ashish Shelar alleged that the ruling MVA had created an artificial shortage so that "power tenders are inflated to earn big money in coal import".

Nadda's development mantra in home state

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

WHAT is Gujarat for Amit Shah and Narendra Modi, Himachal Pradesh is for BJP chief JP Nadda. In his second visit to his poll-bound home state in less than a fortnight, Nadda credited PM Modi for restoring the special category status for the hill state.

Nadda took part in a roadshow and spoke at a rally at Nagrota Bagwan in Kangra, a politically significant district of Himachal Pradesh, where the BJP aims to achieve 'Mission Repeat' in the December Assembly elections.

The Kangra region has 15 seats in the 68-member Assembly. Incidentally, no party has repeated a government in the state since 1985.

Currently AAP, trying to emerge as an alternative force in the state, has intensified its campaign in the region. The Kangra region is also known for a massive recruitment of the youth in the Indian Army.

Addressing the rally, Nadda said the Centre-state ratio of 90:10 in development projects of the state was restored during the tenure of the BJP government. He said the Atal Bihari Vajpayee government had extended the special industrial package for the state.

Claiming credit for various development projects, he said Atal Tunnel was a gift of PM Modi to the people. "The tunnel was a dream project of Atal Bihari Vajpayee."

"The BJP is a party with a difference," he told party workers and asked them to explain to the people the developmental works and achievements of the Centre and state governments.

Earlier Nadda was given a rousing welcome on way from Gaggal Airport to the venue of the rally at Nagrota Bagwan.

The BJP rally and roadshow came a day ahead of a similar gathering of AAP, which will be addressed by AAP convener and Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal.

Guwahati municipal corporation poll passes off peaceful

Guwahati: The elections to Guwahati Municipal Council (GMC) held on Friday passed off peacefully. The polling was held in 57 of the 60 wards as the BJP had won the three others unopposed earlier. Congress contested the highest number of wards (54), followed by the ruling BJP (53) and Aam Aadmi Party (39). The Asom Gana Parishad contested seven wards as per its seat-sharing arrangement with ally BJP. The BJP went to polls high on confidence after having won 75 of 80 municipal boards statewide recently. Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma had led the party's campaign. The Congress campaign was spearheaded by party's state chief Bhupen Borah. The grand old party has been embattled in a series of defections of its MLAs and leaders. The AAP is attempting to make inroads in the state through the GMC elections. The party had roped in its Delhi MLA Atishi Marlena to take part in a roadshow, indicating the party's seriousness about the civic body elections. The AAP had opened its account in Assam by winning two wards in Tinsukia and Lakhimpur earlier. ENS

Sidhu lends support to Mann in fight against mafia

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chandigarh

FORMER Punjab Congress chief Navjot Singh Sidhu did a volte-face on Friday to praise Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann while taking swipe at his own party which he claimed lost the polls due to the 'mafia raj' in the state.

Mann would get his full support in the fight against the mafia, the Congress leader said, barely a day after he had dubbed the Punjab chief minister as "rubber da gudda" (rubber doll).

"He (Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann) is an honest man. I have never raised a finger at him. If he fights against it (the mafia), he has my support... because it is a fight for Punjab's existence," Sidhu told mediapersons at the sidelines of an event where Amarinder Singh Raja Warring took charge as the president of Congress Punjab unit.

"I did not speak earlier but everybody has a right to speak, and I say today that the Congress lost because of the five-year rule of the mafia raj," he said, indirectly targeting some of his own party colleagues.

In the past, the maverick leader had taken on the 'cable mafia' when the Congress was in power. Sand mining was a major poll issue in the Assembly election as well.

Without elaborating further, Sidhu asserted that he had always fought against the mafia. "My fight was not against any individual. It was against the system and against some persons who were eating into the state like termites," he said, adding that the fight is not for any post. "Politics will not be respected till the time it remains a business. When Punjab becomes mafia-free, the state will rise."

The cricketer-turned-politician continued his diatribe against the mafia in the state on the social media.

"The Congress will have to reinvent to come back to power... Honest faces with moral authority and integrity will be the propellers. We are fighting a battle of existence for this great state... It's either the Mafia or Honest people (sic)," he tweeted.

BJP chief's wife leaves Twitter over trolls

Stuti Mishra, wife of state BJP president and Lok Sabha member VD Sharma, faced online troll for her tweet praising a Muslim medicine shop owner for his generosity at a time when all other shops were closed late at night. Trolled over the tweet, Stuti, an assistant professor with Jawaharlal Agriculture University, Jabalpur, not only deleted the tweet, but also deactivated her Twitter account later. While Sharma played down the matter, saying she is an independent citizen and the tweet shouldn't become a big issue, the opposition Congress leaders, while terming Bhabhiji (Stuti) as "courageous", said even she has been targeted by BJP's "Galigang" due to her heartfelt tweet.

Suspended earlier, prison official gets bigger role

Five and half years after being suspended over the escape of eight alleged SIMI operatives from Bhopal Central Jail, senior prison officer Akhilesh Tomar is not just back in action but is actually superintending over two central jails -- Jabalpur and Satna. Tomar, who hails from the same region to which MP home and jail minister Narottam Mishra belongs to, is heading the two prisons at a time when a departmental enquiry is still underway against him. While the jail directorate officials cited lack of experienced staff to justify Tomar's posting, some others rued that equally experienced staff at other central jails have been awaiting transfer.

No place for dissent in Madhya Pradesh Congress

It seems there is no place for dissent in opposition Congress in the state. Carrying the Congress flag unflinchingly for the last 30 years, a grassroots party worker from Bundelkhand was in for shock of his life recently at the state party headquarters in Bhopal. The worker who was in his late 50s was telling a scribe about the party's debacle in Prithvipur Assembly bypoll last year. But to his shock, a party spokesperson, who is considered close to state Congress chief Kamal Nath, not only humiliated the worker publicly but also asked him to leave the party if he wanted to. With tears in eyes, the party worker was seen telling outside "this is why Congress is in the current state".

'No bulldozing sans procedure'

INDORE: The Shivraj Singh Chouhan government has told the Indore bench of the Madhya Pradesh High Court that the alleged encroachment made by an accused in the Khargone riots case shall not be removed without the due legal procedure.

The state government made the submission in the high court on Thursday at a time when opposition parties, especially Congress, has raised question marks over the BJP government's anti-encroachment drive in Khargone.

In her plea, Fareeda Bee (45), wife of Firoz Khan, who was arrested in connection with the communal violence in Khargone city, has expressed apprehensions that the government might demolish their house without following the due procedure. A single bench of the high court had on Thursday disposed of her petition after the AAG made the submission on behalf of the state. PTI

'Mass graves' near Mariupol as Russia pounds east of Ukraine

Putin accuses Kyiv of refusing to allow Ukrainian troops to surrender in the port city

KYIV

SATELLITE photos of what appeared to be rows upon rows of freshly dug mass graves on the outskirts of Mariupol brought the horrors of the war increasingly into focus, as Russia pounded away on Friday at Ukrainian holdouts in the city's steel mill and other targets in a drive to seize the country's industrial east.

"Every day they drop several bombs on Azovstal," Petro Andryushchenko, an adviser to Mariupol's mayor, said of the besieged steelworks. "Fighting, shelling, bombing do not stop." Cities elsewhere in the Donbas region also came under Russian fire overnight, and the attacks interfered with efforts to evacuate civilians.

The region, home to coal mines, metal plants and heavy-equipment factories, is bracing for what could be an epic clash as Russian President Vladimir Putin attempts to salvage a victory from the 8-week-old war widely seen as a blunder and a humanitarian disaster.

On Thursday, Putin claimed victory in the battle for the strategic southern port city of Mariupol, though an estimated 2,000 Ukrainians remained holed up at the sprawling steelworks, which has been bombarded for weeks. Putin ordered his troops not to storm the stronghold but to seal it off.

At the same time, US satellite imagery company Maxar released images that showed more than 200 graves in a town near Mariupol, prompting accusations that the Russians were trying to conceal the slaughter of civilians taking place in the city. Initial estimates from the Ukrainians said the graves could hold 9,000 bodies, but Andryushenko said there could be more. Ukrainian authorities have said over 20,000 civilians have been killed in the nearly two-month siege of Mariupol. "The graves have been dug up and corpses are still being dumped there," the mayor's aide said.

Putin said Friday that Russia gave Ukrainian forces inside the steel plant the option to surrender, with guarantees to keep them alive, and offered "decent treatment and medical care," according to an account of a phone call with European Council President Charles Michel, provided by the Kremlin.

"But the Kyiv regime does not allow them to take this opportunity," Putin charged.

Repeated attempts to evacuate civilians from the the city have failed because Russia did not honor ceasefires, Ukrainian officials have said.

Ukrainian Deputy Prime Minister Iryna Vereshchuk said no humanitarian corridors for civilian evacuations would be open in Ukraine on Friday because it was too dangerous. She urged civilians to "be patient" and "hang in there."

Days into the Russian offensive to take the east, the campaign has yet to become a full-out assault, with military analysts saying Moscow's forces are still ramping up. But scattered towns in the east have experienced the thud of incoming shells that drive citizens out in panic. AP

TALKS HAVE STALLED: RUSSIAN MINISTER

Moscow: Talks between Moscow and Kyiv to put an end to Russia's military campaign in pro-Western Ukraine have stalled, Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov said on Friday. He said Russia has still had not received an answer to a latest proposal sent around five days ago. Lavrov said he was under the impression Kyiv may not want to continue the talks. "It is very strange for me to hear every day statements by various Ukrainian representatives that make one think that they do not need these negotiations at all, that they have resigned themselves to their fate," Lavrov added. AFP

Army officer killed in Balochistan terror attack

Islamabad: A Pakistan Army officer was killed and another injured in an encounter with terrorists in the country's south-western province of Balochistan, the military said on Friday. According to an Army statement, an encounter began when a group of terrorists "fired" at a security forces outpost in the Kahan area on Thursday night. Major Shahid Basheer lost his life while another soldier sustained injuries when the security forces repulsed the attack and tried chasing the terrorists who fled to the nearby mountains, it said. "At one of the cordons established to block the passage of fleeing terrorists, a heavy exchange of fire took place between terrorists and forces, leading to the casualty," it said. The statement added that the country's security forces remained "determined to thwart any attempt at sabotaging peace, stability, and progress of Balochistan". PTI

Junta chief calls for peace talks with ethnic rebels

Yangon: Myanmar's junta chief on Friday called for face-to-face peace talks with the country's ethnic rebel groups, as the military struggles to crush newer anti-junta militias that have sprung up to fight the coup. Myanmar has about 20 ethnic rebel armies that have fought each other and the military for decades over the drug trade, natural resources and autonomy. Some have condemned the ouster of Aung San Suu Kyi's government and offered shelter and weapons training to "People's Defence Forces" that have sprung up since the putsch. "I invite leaders of ethnic armed groups for dialogue," junta chief Min Aung Hlaing said in an address on state media, calling for representatives to register by May 9 and adding he would meet them personally. AFP

Pak security forum bins conspiracy allegations

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN top security forum on Friday announced that there was no "foreign conspiracy" to topple the government of Imran Khan, rejecting the repeated claim of the former prime minister that the US plotted a regime change in Islamabad with the help of the Opposition parties.

In a statement released after its meeting chaired by Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif, the National Security Committee (NSC) said it discussed the telegram received from the Pakistan embassy in Washington last month which was used by Khan to portray his removal through no-confidence vote as a US conspiracy for following an independent foreign policy.

Asad Majeed Khan, former Pakistan's ambassador to the US, who authoured the cable, briefed the Committee on the context and content of his telegram, the statement said.

"The NSC was again informed by the premier security agencies that they have found no evidence of any conspiracy. Therefore, the NSC after reviewing the contents of the communication, the assessments received, and the conclusions presented by the security agencies, concludes that there has been no foreign conspiracy," it said. Khan has been claiming that the Opposition's no-confidence motion against him was the result of a 'foreign conspiracy' because of his independent foreign policy. PTI

Macron, Le Pen trade final blows ahead of election

PARIS

FRANCE'S presidential contenders Emmanuel Macron and Marine Le Pen traded final blows on the last day of campaigning on Friday to drive home why their particular political brand — and not the other's — is the right choice for voters in one of the world's wealthiest large democracies.

Macron, the centre-right incumbent, laid into the nationalist rival he is set to face in a Sunday runoff, accusing the far-right leader of trying to divide France over Islam.

"The far right lives off fear and anger creating resentment. It says that excluding parts of society is the answer," Macron told France Inter radio. "(But) I want to try to answer it... (and) make us live as a united nation."

Lagging behind Macron in the latest opinion polls, Le Pen campaigned in her stronghold of northern France in a last-ditch effort to try to close the gap. In a a gritty mood, Le Pen lashed out at Macron's planned pensions reform, which she described as an effort to make the French work forever.

"The French, with Emmanuel Macron, will end up with life," Le Pen said. "This reform of Emmanuel Macron is a deep social injustice."

In a bid to seduce working-class voters and electors who cast some 7.7 million votes for leftist candidate Jean-Luc Mélenchon in the first round, Macron has watered down a campaign pledge to raise the retirement age in France to 65 by 2030. He now says he will consult with unions before deciding on the new legal retirement age.

Macron acknowledged that Le Pen had alacrity and resonance among some voters, adding that "she has managed to draw on some of what we did not manage to do, on some of the things I did not manage to do to pacify some of the anger, respond quickly to what voters want."

The two candidates made their final pitches to the French electorate before campaigning for the presidential runoff is legally required to end at midnight.

Leaders of two Koreas exchange letters of hope

SEOUL

THE leaders of the rival Koreas exchanged letters expressing hope for improved bilateral relations, which plummeted in the past three years amid a freeze in nuclear negotiations and North Korea's accelerating weapons development.

North Korea's state media said leader Kim Jong Un on Wednesday received a personal letter from outgoing South Korean President Moon Jae-in and replied on Thursday with his own letter appreciating Moon's peace efforts during his term. Pyongyang's official Korean Central News Agency said on Friday their exchange of letters showed their "deep trust."

Experts say North Korea's announcement of the letters, which came as Kim possibly prepares for a nuclear test and other major provocations, is aimed at dividing public opinion in South Korea and discouraging Seoul's new government from taking a hard line toward Pyongyang after its inauguration in May.

KCNA said Moon told Kim he would continue to campaign for Korean reunification even after he leaves office next month, basing his efforts on their joint declarations for peace issued after their summit meetings in 2018. AP

33 killed in bombing at mosque and religious school in Afghanistan

KABUL

A TALIBAN official said a bombing at a mosque and religious school in northern Afghanistan on Friday killed at least 33 people, including students of a religious school.

Zabihullah Mujahid, the Taliban's deputy culture and information minister, said the bombing in the town of Imam Saheb, in Kunduz Province, also wounded another 43 people, many of them students.

None immediately claimed responsibility, but Afghanistan's Islamic State affiliate on Friday claimed a series of bombings that happened a day earlier, the worst of which was an attack on a Shiite mosque in northern Mazar-e-Sharif that killed at least 12 Shiite Muslim worshippers and wounded scores more.

Earlier, the Kunduz provincial police spokesman put the death toll at the mosque and madrassa compound in Imam Saheb at two dead and six injured. Mujahid later tweeted the higher casualty numbers tweeting, "we condemn this crime...and express our condolences to the victims."

Friday's bombing is the latest in a series of deadly attacks across Afghanistan. Mujahid called the perpetrator's of the Kunduz attack "seditionists and evil elements."

Since sweeping to power last August, the Taliban have been battling the upstart Islamic State affiliate known as Islamic State in Khorasan Province or IS-K which is proving to be an intractable security challenge for Afghanistan's religiously driven government. Last November, the Taliban's intelligence unit carried out sweeping attacks on suspected IS-K hideouts in eastern Nangarhar province.

In a statement Friday, the IS-K said the explosive device that devastated Mazar-e-Sharif 's Sai Doken mosque was hidden in a bag left inside among scores of worshippers. AP

DOZENS HURT IN CLASHES AT JERUSALEM HOLY SITE

JERUSALEM

ISRAELI police clashed with Palestinian protesters on Friday in the latest violence at Jerusalem's flashpoint Al-Aqsa mosque compound, as the United Nations voiced deep concern at spiralling unrest.

The Palestinian Red Crescent said 57 people were wounded, including 14 Palestinians taken to hospital, one of them in a serious condition, after police stormed the compound in Israeli-annexed east Jerusalem's Old City. The clashes come after a month of deadly violence, as the Jewish festival of Passover overlaps with the holy Muslim fasting month of Ramadan.

The violence has sparked international fears of conflict, one year on since similar unrest led to an 11-day war between Israel and militants in Gaza. This week, Palestinian groups in the Gaza Strip have fired rockets at Israel, which has responded by sending warplanes to strike the blockaded and impoverished territory.

"We are deeply concerned by the escalating violence in the occupied Palestinian territory and Israel over the past month," said Ravina Shamdasani, spokeswoman for the UN Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights.

Israeli police said Palestinians began hurling stones before dawn on Friday towards the Western Wall, the holiest site where Jews can pray.

"Police forces used crowd dispersal means in order to stop the violence," said a statement.

Al-Aqsa is Islam's third-holiest site, and the most sacred site in Judaism where it is known as the Temple Mount.

Police fired tear gas and rubber-tipped bullets at stone-throwing Palestinian youths, and later used drones to spray tear gas from the air, said a source. After midday prayers, some worshippers chanted "incitement" and tried to damage a security post, police said.

More than 200 people, mostly Palestinians, have been hurt in clashes in and around Al-Aqsa in the past week. Palestinians have been outraged by massive Israeli police deployment and repeated visits by Jews to the holy site.

On Friday, the United Nations' High Commissioner for Human Rights demanded a probe into the Israeli police actions. "The use of force by Israeli police resulting in widespread injuries among worshippers and staff in and around the Al-Aqsa mosque compound must be promptly, impartially, independently and transparently investigated," Shamdasani said. AFP

Lenders reject Future Group–RIL deal

It leaves bankruptcy as a strong possibility for the retailer; at least 75% vote was required for the deal to pass

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

A majority of lenders to Future Group have rejected a deal involving the sale of its retail assets to RIL in the NCLT, with 69.29% voting against and only 30.71% in favour of the resolution, leaving bankruptcy as a strong possibility for the retailer, which owes ₹29,000 crore to its lenders. At least 75% vote was required for the deal to pass muster.

Multiple sources confirmed to TNIE that bankers voted against the deal in the absence of any communication from RIL expressing the company's intention to them on the deal with the retailer.

The spokesperson for Future Group didn't respond to a TNIE query on the latest development, while an RIL spokesperson was not immediately available for comment. Bank of India, the lead consortium lender, has already initiated insolvency proceedings against Future Retail Ltd (FRL) which missed meeting dues of over ₹8,800 crore by December and March-end under a one-time restructuring scheme. Other lenders of FRL include SBI, Axis Bank and IDBI Bank.

Unsecured creditors voted 78.22% in favour of the deal while 21.78% voted against. Of the Future group shareholders, 85.94% voted in favour while 14.06% voted against it.

RIL took charge of 835 FRL stores in February after the latter failed to pay rent on the same to the oil-to telecom and retail conglomerate. Future Group in a note to the exchanges said that these stores accounted for 55-60% of its revenues.

Future Group entered into a ₹257,00-crore to sell its assets to RIL in August 2020, but the deal was opposed by e-comm giant Amazon which holds an indirect stake in FRL through its investment in Future Coupons, a promoter group company. Amazon contends that this investment in 2019 gave it the right of first refusal in any sale of assets by FRL.

Amazon and FRL are locked in legal battles across various fora at home and in Singapore where a tribunal voted in its favour. The fate of these court cases remains uncertain with the possibility of insolvency proceedings against Future group becoming stronger.

MPC members flag inflation worries

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

INDIA'S interest rate setting committee has stated that the Ukraine war, generalised hardening of commodity prices and the likelihood of prolonged supply chain disruptions, among others, have imparted sizeable upside risks to the inflation trajectory and downside risks to domestic growth, minutes of the MPC meeting held between April 6 and 8 released on Friday show.

International crude oil prices remain volatile and elevated, with considerable uncertainties surrounding global supplies," the Monetary Policy Committee noted. "With the broad-based surge in prices of key industrial inputs and global supply chain disruptions, input cost push pressures appear likely to persist for longer than expected earlier. Their pass-through to retail prices, though limited till now given the continuing slack in the economy, needs to be monitored carefully."

Thanks to supply disruptions caused by the Pandemic and more recently the war in Europe, retail price or CPI inflation overshot the MPC's upper tolerance limit three straight times, growing at 6.01% in January, 6.07% in February and at 6.95% in March, as food and fuel prices tore through the roof. The MPC's medium term inflation target is at 4% within a plus or minus 2% band to support growth.

"With inflation projected to breach the upper tolerance limit for several months, it is imperative for the MPC to communicate its resolve to ensure that inflation remains within the target going forward," a member's statement read. "It is also necessary to prepare the markets for the withdrawal of the post pandemic monetary accommodation."

Expressing worry over rising food prices, the MPC noted that elevated global price pressures in key food items such as edible oils, and in animal and poultry feed due to global supply shortages imparted high uncertainty to the food price outlook, warranting continuous monitoring.

'CUT TAXES ON FUEL AS INFLATION SOARS'

New Delhi: MPC member Ashima Goyal noted that some relief could be provided to consumers by cutting taxes on fuels amid surging inflation. In April 2019 domestic petrol prices exceeded international prices by 40 per litre. The gap widened in the Covid-19 years as international prices fell but domestic taxes were not reduced. These were an essential revenue-source then as other sources had collapsed. In February 2022 the gap was back to 40/litre as international prices had gone up. ENS

JAPAN

$21 BN EXTRA BUDGET TO TACKLE RISING LIVING COST

Japan's ruling coalition on Thursday agreed a supplementary budget to support lower-income households and small firms, signalling more spending for the heavily indebted nation as it battles inflationary pressures for the first time in decades. In a first phase, Prime Minister Fumio Kishida's Liberal Democratic Party-led (LDP) government aims to set out on Tuesday relief measures worth 1.5 trillion yen ($11.7 billion). They will include one-off 50,000 yen cash payouts per child for low-income families and expanding subsidies to fuel wholesalers, a preliminary document seen by Reuters showed. The governing coalition, which faces upper house elections pencilled in for July 10 as the economy flags and voters struggle to cope with soaring energy costs, also aims to ensure stable supplies of oil and basic foods, according to the draft. News of the extra budget - whose total value Keiichi Ishii, secretary general of the LDP's smaller ally, the Komeito party, estimated at 2.7 trillion yen ($21 billion) - was unexpected. Part of it will be used for emergency measures and the rest set aside to offset the impact of surging costs of fuel and other products.

INDONESIA

CENTRAL BANK MAY HIKE RRR AGAIN IF INFLATION RISES

Indonesia's central bank may hike its reserve requirement ratio (RRR) further if inflation starts to pick up, while the option to raise interest rates will be its last resort, its senior deputy governor said in a seminar on Friday. The benchmark rate is currently at a record low of 3.50%, after being reduced by 150 basis points during the pandemic. Bank Indonesia (BI) has already started normalising some of its pandemic-era ultra loose monetary policy by announcing three hikes in the RRR by 300 bps between March to September. If necessary, if we're looking at liquidity still ample and inflation starts picking up, we may use further increases on the reserve requirement ratio," Destry Damayanti said, adding BI will be careful so that its monetary tightening measure doesn't hurt ability of banks to lend. Her comments came as inflation expectations build in Southeast Asia's largest economy, despite the March inflation of 2.64% remaining within BI's target band of 2% to 4%. BI has said inflation should keep within target this year, but plans by the government to adjust subsidised energy prices could present an upside risk.

SOUTH KOREA

Q1 GROWTH LIKELY SLOWED SHARPLY BY COVID CURBS

South Korea's economic growth likely slowed significantly in the first quarter as restrictions imposed to prevent the spread of COVID-19 slammed the brakes on consumer spending, a Reuters poll found. Asia's fourth-largest economy is expected to have expanded by a seasonally adjusted 0.6% in the January-March quarter from the previous three-month period, according to the median forecast, after growing 1.2% in October-December. On a year-on-year basis, gross domestic product (GDP) expanded 2.8% in the first quarter, the median forecast of 18 economists showed, down sharply from the fourth quarter's 4.2% pace. The data will be released on April, 25. The Bank of Korea's new governor, Rhee Chang-yong, warned that economic growth was expected to weaken further, and in the long run, the economy may experience stagnation amid an aging population and decreased productivity. "Due to the rapid spread of COVID-19 in the first quarter, private consumption will be weaker than expected at the beginning of this year... high inflation due to the Ukraine war is also likely to limit growth," wrote Kyu-yeon Chun, an economist at Hana Financial Investment in Seoul.

Govt to announce successful bidder for loss-making PSU Pawan Hans today

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

IN the first strategic sale of a public sector company in the current financial year, the government is going to announce the successful bidder for Pawan Hans, a Mini Ratna-I category public sector company, on Saturday.

Sources close to the development confirmed TNIE the winner for the bids would be announced on Saturday. It has been reported that two of the country's leading steel manufactures -- JSW Steel and JSPL – are among the front runners.

However, a JSPL official on the condition of anonymity has denied that the Naveen Jindal-owned company is in the race for the public sector helicopter services company. The official said they have no reasons to bid for Pawan Hans.

JSW Steel declined to comment when TNIE approached them. Pawan Hans provides helicopter services for offshore operations, inter-island transportation, connecting inaccessible areas, rescue work, tourism etc. The government owns 51% stake in the company while the rest is held by ONGC. The government will disinvest its entire shareholding of 51% in Pawan Hans by way of strategic disinvestment along with transfer of management control. ONGC also intends to offload its entire shareholding of 49% stake. Pawan Hans earned revenues of ₹346 crore in 2019-20 and made a loss of ₹93 crore during that financial year.

The government is looking to meet the disinvestment target of ₹65,000 crore in the current fiscal after having missed the target by in 2021-22. The government has targeted to realise ₹78,000 crore from sale of public sector enterprises in 2021-22, but could only collect ₹13,530 crore.

SC upholds Maha govt call to attach 63 Moons' assets

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday set aside the Bombay High Court order and upheld the decision of the Maharashtra government to attach properties of company 63 moons Technologies under the Maharashtra Protection of Interest of Depositors (MPID) Act in relation to the National Spot Exchange Limited (NSEL) case.

The judgement comes on an appeal that arose from a order dated August 22, 2019, of the Bombay HC, by which certain notifications attaching the property of the respondent (63 Moons technologies) under Section 4 of the Maharashtra Protection of Interest of Depositors (in Financial Establishments) Act 1991 have been quashed. "... we allow the appeals and set aside the impugned judgment of the HC dated 22 August 2019. The impugned notifications issued under Section 4 of the MPID Act attaching the properties of the respondent are valid." The top court said on Friday the high court ought not to have made observations on the merits of the criminal proceedings when the writ petition was restricted to the issue of whether NSEL is a financial establishment for the purpose of the MPID Act.

The court has observed that the high court lost sight of the fact that Section 2(c) of the MPID Act defines 'deposit' in broad terms. The high court has read the definition of 'deposit' narrowly without any reference to the salutary purpose of the MPID Act, the top court said. With PTI inputs

E-comm giant Amazon buys GlowRoad

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

E-COMMERCE giant Amazon on Friday said that it has acquired homegrown social commerce start-up GlowRoad for an undisclosed sum.

In a statement, the company said the acquisition is a step in the company's commitment to digitise 10 million local Indian businesses by 2025. "Amazon continues to explore new ways to digitize India and delight customers, micro- entrepreneurs and sellers and bringing GlowRoad onboard is a key step in this direction. Together with GlowRoad, Amazon will help accelerate entrepreneurship among millions of creators, homemakers, students, and small sellers from across the country," an Amazon said in an email response."This acquisition will complement GlowRoad's already loved service with Amazon's technology, infrastructure, and digital payments capabilities, bringing more efficiency and cost-saving for everyone," the spokesperson added.

Globally, social commerce industry is expected to grow three times as fast as traditional e-commerce to $1.2 trillion by 2025, according to a recent (January) Accenture study. Notably, the same study also showed that nearly eight out of ten social media users in India use social commerce to make purchases. In November last year, Myntra also launched its influencer-driven live commerce platform 'M-Live' in a move to expand its social commerce business. Chinese buyers have long supported the concept through apps like TaoBao. In India, however, It's a recent development.

'Private 5G networks not to impact telcos' revenue'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA needs private 5G networks to accelerate digital transformation in the field of manufacturing, healthcare, education and agriculture, said Broadband India Forum on Friday. The forum, which represents many private enterprises including Cisco Hughes and Intel, in a letter to the Department of Telecommunication (DoT) also mentioned that Private 5G Networks will not impact the revenue of TSPs (Telecom Service Providers). It said the speculated loss in revenues for telcos via enterprise services is a misplaced one.

"It is also often misunderstood in certain quarters that Private 5G Networks would lead to revenue losses for the telcos. In actuality, majority of the enterprise revenues of TSPs would be via external network services which comprise of voice and data communications," reads the letter, which is with TNIE. Last week, the Trai (Telecom Regulatory of India) came up with its recommendations on 5G modalities. It suggested that the DoT should allow enterprises to build their private 5G networks. However, the decision was not welcomed by telecom operators. They said it would impact their 30-40% revenue. But the private enterprises claim as India needs higher efficiencies in verticals like manufacturing, healthcare, education, agriculture, financial inclusion, this only can be achieved through use of Private 5G Networks. The letter hinted Samsung manufacturing facility in Noida or a Nokia plant in Sriperumbudur can set up their own 5G Non-Public Networks (NPN) and digitalise their various verticals. "Since OEMs (Original Equipment Manufacturers) set up the traditional telecom networks on behalf of the telcos presently, they could deploy and operate their own 5G Non-Public Networks (NPN). Siemens has done the same in Germany," reads the letter.

Accident caused due to over-speeding, says Ola Electric

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

OLA ELECTRIC issued a detailed statement stating that the data from their investigation "clearly shows that the rider was overspeeding throughout the night, and that he braked in panic, thereby losing control of the vehicle. There is nothing wrong with the vehicle."

The company also provided detailed speed data of the vehicle at the time of the incident where it said that at the exact moment of the incident, all the three brakes were applied together, likely due to an obstruction on the road, and this brought the speed down from 80kmph to 0 kmph in 3 seconds. In the data, no sudden torque or acceleration is observed after braking, contrary the customer claims, said Ola Electric.

Balwant Singh, who on April 15 had alleged that his son had an accident on March 26 due to a regenerating braking, commenting on Ola Electric's finding and said that his son was not speeding at 85 kmph. He was around 60 kmph at the point of braking thereafter it accelerated, went down in air and came back crashing. If it came from 85 to 0 kmph in 3 seconds, he would not have been alive," added Singh.

Singh had said that his son had fractures in left hand and 16 stitches in right hand due to this accident, and he had to be flown from Guwahati to Mumbai to undergo a surgery to save his left hand from life-long disability. Singh also called out the poor response he received from the Ola Electric team post the accident.

This whole episode takes place as Ola Electric is under heavy scrutiny following a fire explosion in its EV last month. In recent weeks, e-scooters from Ola Electric, Pure EV, Okinawa Scooters and Jitendra Electric Vehicles have caught fire and in at least two cases there has been loss of human lives. This has casted serious safety concerns among consumers.

EPL: Big win for Burnley against Southampton

Premier League

Burnley improved their chances of avoiding relegation from the Premier League as Connor Roberts' superb strike inspired a vital 2-0 win against Southampton on Thursday. The Clarets won for the first time since Sean Dyche's sacking thanks to Roberts' sublime curler and Nathan Collins' header. It was just their fifth league victory this season.

Special Buttler service

Opener's 3rd ton of the season powers Rajasthan to win over Delhi

ASHIM SUNAM @Bengaluru

HOW have Rajasthan Royals been one of the best teams in the 15th edition of the IPL? Sample this: 193/8, 210/6, 165/6, 169/3, 217/5 and 155/9 in their six matches. The answer lies in their batting. In all these, it is Jos Buttler, who has been a common factor, scoring runs with ridiculous ease.

After Delhi Capitals skipper Rishabh Pant won the toss, he decided to bowl first against Rajasthan at the Wankhede Stadium in Mumbai on Friday. Was that a good call? He might have been prompted to do so with the dew expected in the second half of the game. But that meant allowing Buttler a first taste of the 22-yard Mumbai highway and he was never going to miss out.

Coming into the game with 385 runs under his belt, one knew about his confidence level. He was not middling the ball well initially. The first two fours of his bat flew off the edge and one wondered if it might not be his day. In fact, the Englishman was 11 off 14 balls. However, if you watch his innings closely this season, he comes with a clear cut plan, and unleashes his big shots especially after getting his eye in.

The same transpired on Friday as Buttler scored his third hundred of the season to power his team to 222/2 in 20 overs. Devdutt Padikkal and Sanju Samson also played their role, scoring 54 (35) and 46 (19) respectively.

With the ball sailing into the crowds regularly, Delhi players' faces during Buttler's stay said it all. Prithvi Shaw had his hands on his chin as the ball flew all around the park. At one point, Pant had a cheeky smile behind the wicket as if to say 'how can you treat my bowlers like this?'

In reply, David Warner (28), Prithvi Shaw (37) and Rishabh Pant (44) started well, but failed to convert their starts. Later, when the equation was 36 off 12, Prasidh Krishna produced a wicket maiden, which put the match beyond Delhi. Rovman Powell (36), who hit three sixes off the first three balls in the final over, had the crowd on the edge of the seats. However, a dot in the fourth ball — following a brief pause after a no-ball debate (Delhi camp felt the third delivery was a no ball (height) but the umpires thought otherwise — sealed the fate of the match. Skipper Pant even sent out batting coach Pravin Amre to have a chat with the umpires but they held their ground.

Brief scores: RR 222/2 in 20 ovs (Buttler 116, Padikkal 54) bt DC 207/8 in 20 ovs (Pant 44, Krishna 3/22, Ashwin 2/32).

Shooters, spikers & shuttlers in focus

ASHIM SUNAM @Bengaluru

THE Khelo India University Games (KIUG) was outlined to be an annual event when the first edition took place in early 2020 in Odisha. But, the Covid-19 pandemic created havoc and the second edition could not be hosted the following year but is now finally set to take place in Bengaluru. Volleyball, badminton, mallakhamb, shooting and basketball are scheduled to kick off the second edition of the KIUG on Saturday. Many participants have already reached the city and the numbers are going to surge more as their respective events inch closer. Also, when it comes to such Games, where more than 4500 athletes are going to compete, volunteers play an important role and they have also gradually checked in. "Since some of the events are starting from tomorrow (Saturday) itself, many athletes and officials have already arrived at the venues. Some of the children (athletes) have also started their respective practice as well at the Jain University and the Jain School campus," said Shankar UV, Director of Sports, Jain University. "Many volunteers are going to move in. Right now, I am managing around 150-200, and some more volunteers are going to move in today evening."

Asian C'ships: After cold bite, silver lining for Radhika

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

THE cold and dry weather at Ulaanbaatar, Mongolia — the venue for the ongoing Asian Championships — is bound to take a toll on Indian wrestlers competing in the continental competition. While the night temperature hovers below the freezing point, there is hardly any relief in the morning with the venue fitted with heaters, making the air drier.

Radhika (65kg) felt the heat when she took the mat in her opening bout against Japanese Miwa Morikawa. She lost 10-0 by technical superiority. Soon after, she started bleeding profusely from the nose making the Indian contingent a worried lot. "It was difficult to adjust to the temperature. It was so dry that I started bleeding from the nose after the first bout with the next scheduled in 15 minutes," Radhika told this daily.

Nonetheless, the Haryana wrestler made a strong comeback to win the next bout against Ariukhan Jumabaeva from Uzbekistan 4-2 by a fall.

Radhika, who was participating in her second international event in the senior category, then got the better of local wrestler Purevsuren Ulziisaikhan 8-6 to confirm a podium finish. The Indian wrestler then defeated Kazakh opponent, Dariga Aben, 10-0 by technical superiority to finish with a silver medal.

No gold this time

Defending champion Anshu Malik (57kg) had to settle for a silver medal as she lost the final to Japanese Tsugumi Sakurai 4-0 by a fall. She had earlier won three bouts in a dominant fashion by not allowing any of her opponents to score even a point.

Meanwhile, Manisha (62kg) bagged a bronze medal in her weight category, taking Indian women wrestlers' medal tally to five.

Ghosal sang from the same hymn sheet. Both Ghosal and Chinappa will be in action at the Worlds in Egypt before training abroad.

The Tamil Nadu Government, represented by principal secretary, youth welfare and sports development department, Selvi Apoorva, at the function, announced cash awards to all the three players. N Ramachandran, patron SRFI, gave away cash awards in his personal capacity.

Adults hospitalised with Covid-19 are at significantly higher risk of complications and death than those with influenza, despite being younger and having fewer chronic illnesses, according to a study. The finding, being presented at this year's European Congress of Clinical Microbiology & Infectious Diseases in Lisbon, Portugal from April 23-26, also suggests that Covid-19 is associated with both longer stays in hospital and costs nearly twice as much to treat

Large Hadron Collider restarts

Recent upgrades will allow it to smash protons together at even greater speeds

PHYSICS

PARIS: The Large Hadron Collider restarted on Friday after a three-year break for upgrades that will allow it to smash protons together at even greater speeds, in the hope of making ground-breaking discoveries.

Among the upgrades are sensitive instruments that will allow scientists to study the collision of particles in more detail. Also the beams are narrower, which increases the number of collisions.

With these enhancements, it will further study the Higgs boson, the existence of which it proved in 2012, and put the Standard Model of particle physics to the test after recent anomalies sparked theories about a mysterious fifth force of nature.

"Two beams of protons circulated in opposite directions around the Large Hadron Collider's 27-kilometre ring" just after noon on Friday, Europe's physics lab CERN said in a statement. Buried more than 100 metres (330 feet) beneath the border of Switzerland and France, the collider has been closed since December 2018 for maintenance and upgrades, the second longest shutdown in its 14-year history.

A worker inspects Hadron Collider inside a tunnel | AFP

To start with, the collider is taking it easy. A "relatively small number of protons" were circulated at an energy of 450 billion electronvolts, CERN said. "High-intensity, high-energy collisions are a couple of months away," the head of CERN's beams department Rhodri Jones said.

CERN said its experts "will work around the clock" to get the collider ready to set a new record of 13.6 trillion electronvolts. The unprecedented number of upcoming collisions will also serve as the starting gun for four years of massive data collection and analysis by CERN's four huge particle detectors. The Large Hadron Collider's observation of the Higgs boson was seen as further verification of the Standard Model, which is the best theory scientists have for the most basic building blocks of the universe and what forces govern them.

But the collider's new phase of exploration comes at an interesting time, with the Standard Model coming under pressure by a series of measurements that do not seem to fit within its framework. Earlier this month more than 400 scientists said that after a decade of measuring they had found that the W boson has a significantly greater mass than the Standard Model allowed for.Harry Cliff, a particle physicist at Cambridge University, said the collider's upgrade means "it's going to be an exciting few years".

Cliff studies particles called beauty quarks at the Large Hadron Collider beauty (LHCb) and said they "are not behaving as we would expect" under the Standard Model. There are currently four known fundamental forces of nature — gravity, electromagnetism and the strong and weak nuclear forces — and a fifth would be a "really big deal," he said. Another explanation could be that we know less than we thought.

Singapore to lift most Covid curbs

COVID

Singapore will lift most of its strict virus curbs next week, officials announced on Friday, hailing a "significant step" towards normalcy. Earlier this month the city-state reopened its borders to all vaccinated visitors, joining other countries in the region that have recently dropped travel curbs as they shift to living with Covid-19. Authorities announced plans Friday to lift more measures, including scrapping all testing requirements for vaccinated travellers beginning Tuesday. Daily infections and hospitalisations have declined steadily in the past week, with under 3,100 local cases a day on average, the health ministry said. "While this represents a significant step in our return to normalcy, the pandemic is not over," the ministry said.

UK citizen battles Covid for record 505 days, dies

COVID

LONDON: British researchers believe they have documented the longest-known Covid-19 infection, in a patient who tested positive for a total of 505 days before their death.

The previous record for persistent infection — rather than repeated bouts of Covid — is thought to be 335 days, the team from King's College London and Guy's and St Thomas' NHS Foundation Trust said.

One of the study's co-authors, consultant virologist Gaia Nebbia, said the unnamed individual was diagnosed in mid-2020 with respiratory symptoms that later improved.

But they then tested positive about 45 times before attending hospital up to their death. Nebbia said persistent infection with SARS-CoV-2 — the virus which causes Covid-19 — has been described in patients with weakened immune systems. She and her team studied how the virus from nine Covid patients in London changed over time, concluding that new variants may occur in immunocompromised patients.

"This is one of the hypotheses for the emergence of variants," Nebbia told AFP.

"Regular sampling and genetic analysis of the virus showed that five of the nine patients developed at least one mutation seen in variants of concern. "Some individuals developed multiple mutations associated with variants of concern, such as the Alpha, Delta and Omicron variants.

"However, none of the individuals in our work developed new variants that became widespread variants of concern."

Of the nine immunocompromised patients who tested positive for at least eight weeks, infections persisted on average for 73 days. But two patients had persistent infections for more than a year.

All the patients had weakened immune systems due to organ transplantation, HIV, cancer or other medical therapies. They were studied between March 2020 and December last year.

New Coke recipe

On this day in 1985, Coca-Cola introduced New Coke, a reformulated soft drink to replace its flagship one in the hope of revitalising the brand

A DROP OF REGRET

The announcement sparked a furore, and the decision to discontinue the 99-year-old prior version of Coke was called "the biggest marketing blunder of all time"

A DASH OF OUTCRY

New Coke ads at the Houston Astrodome were booed, the drink was dumped into sewers in Seattle and the original was hoarded or sold at prohibition prices

A SWIRL BACK TO CLASSIC

The original formula, now called Coca-Cola classic, returned on July 11, 1985, and put a cap on 79 days that revolutionised the industry

Last week, Vidyarthi Bhavan created a buzz after their 'coming soon to Malleswaram' announcement. Turns out, it was a gimmick to pull crowds towards Chowdiah Hall where they will stage a play which documents the story of Basavanagudi

PLAY ALONG

SANATH PRASAD

SOMETIMES it takes dramatic steps to project dramatic stories. And Basavanagudi's Vidyarthi Bhavan (VB) is not just good at serving some lip smacking benne masala dosae, but also some melodrama. Last Friday, VB announced on social media that they would be 'coming soon to Malleswaram' and food-lovers naturally assumed that a branch was underway in the area. It created a verbattle on social media among those who believed that CTR, Veena Stores and VB would be at loggerheads in Malleswaram.

However, all roads still lead to Malleswaram with the VB team announcing that they will be staging Vidyarthi Bhavana at Chowdiah Memorial Hall. Done in collaboration with Bengaluru Theatre Foundation, the play will chronicle the stories of Basavanagudi and the incidents that shaped VB. The 90-minute performance, directed by Arjun Kabbina and scripted by Rajendra Karanth, is an attempt to represent the cultural corridors of Basavanagudi through the prism of VB. The artistes include Sihi Kahi Chandru, Sundar Veena, Pavan Kulkarni.

Arun Adiga, managing partner, VB says, "VB is an emotion. So far, we have seen food lovers comment about the dosae that we have been serving. Now, it is time for the dosae to speak up and tell its stories and give an account of the incidents it witnessed in these seven decades. This is our second such attempt in theatre after Gama Gama Bhavana which was about renowned personalities of Bengaluru in the social scene and their discussions in the contemporary world," says Adiga, who categorically adds that VB has no intention to open any new branch in Bengaluru as of now.

Kabbina, a theatre artiste, who grew up in Gandhi Bazaar, quit his teaching job ahead of the pandemic, only to later be jolted by the lockdown. This was the trigger for Kabinna to support the theatre fraternity and also pay tribute to the cultural heritage of Basavanagudi through a play. "Gandhi Bazaar is like my mother and VB is like a temple to me. The lockdown shattered the lives of the theatre artistes. That is when I decided to seize the opportunity to chronicle the memories of Basavanagudi and the incidents that shaped VB," says Kabinna. From stories of poets like KS Nisar Ahmed to music composer C Ashwath, the play will embody a lot of personalities from different walks of life who added to the cultural value of Bengaluru.

Over the last six months, certain artistes also visited the major cultural landmarks of Basavanagudi to understand the place in depth. The play will also feature the time when Infosys founder Narayana Murthy visited VB and spoke about the importance of preserving such spots; as well as poet Gopalkrishna Adiga's visit to VB.

(Vidyarthi Bhavana will be staged at Chowdiah Memorial Hall, Malleswaram on May 6,7,and 8. For tickets, visit bookmyshow.com)

CITY SPEAKS

Vidyarthi Bhavan is finally playing the marketing game. So far, they have shunned and avoided attention, barring the attention that only the dosaes get. Suddenly, they have done a play which seems to be nifty, and to an extent, a guerrilla tactic, by throwing up a pleasant surprise about their entry into Malleswaram while staying put at Basavanagudi.

— Harish Bijoor, brand guru

I feel betrayed now! Because I hold very fond memories of VB and I was all geared up to see them open in Malleswaram. But now, they have broken the happy bubble by announcing it as a play. It is disappointing.

— Sanjana Srinivas, banker

The whole buzz about VB moving to Malleswaram is a deception but we should have taken the announcement with a pinch of salt. If it all VB was moving there, it would have led to a food war among fans. It is nice when certain landmarks stay put.

SAYANA DANDASANA

(REPOSE STAFF POSE)

It is one of the variations of Chaturanga Dandasana. It strengthens the arms, shoulders, abdomen, and back muscles and also makes wrists stronger. It helps students learn to balance and surrender to a pose. It may challenge those who lack self-belief, but helps them overcome such negative perceptions as it stimulates the Manipura chakra, the centre that promotes confidence and self-esteem.

STEPS

- Come into Adho Mukha Svanasana and then to plank pose. Make sure that your shoulder bones are pushed against the back and tailbone towards the pubis. Keep arms fully extended and spine erect.
- Exhale, bend elbows and support your chin with your palms. Let you lower body stay raised a few inches away from the ground.
- Keep the body parallel to the ground and hips straight. Turn legs inward in this position.
- Keep a wide space between shoulder blades. Elbows ought not to be spread outwards but rather be pushed back down towards the heels.
- Assure that the neck is adjusted straight with the rest of the body and press the base of elbows to the ground.
- Remain in this position for around 10-30 seconds and after that breathe out and rest gently on the floor.
- Repeat this process 3 to 6 times.

BENEFITS

- Strengthens arms, wrists, elbows and abdomen.
- Beneficial for those who suffer from back problems as it strengthens the back muscles.
- Helps to boost flexibility, balance and stability.
- Also helps to make triceps and biceps strong.
- Strengthens elbow muscles.
- Helps tone the abdomen.
- Gives strength to the core abdominal muscles.

LIMITATIONS

- Those who have carpal tunnel syndrome, or a shoulder, elbow or wrist injury should avoid.
- Pregnant women can avoid the full version of the pose instead, lower only a few inches or practice just the plank pose.
- Always work within your own range of limits and abilities. If you have any medical concerns, consult a yoga expert.

Coconuts & Cocktails

CAN there be a natural plant which has more versatility than the humble coconut? It will indeed be difficult to find. Apart from the kernel which can be used in its tender or hardened form, and the water contained within, almost every part of the plant finds some utility. The coir is used in ropes and brushes, and is also used extensively in horticulture for making potting compost. Copra, the dried meat of the seed, is the source of coconut oil which is now being touted as a super fat. The trunks provide timber, the leaves are used to make brooms and the like. Saturated fats in the coconut make it much easier for the human body to digest than animal fats, making it a healthier alternative.

With such a variety of uses, it's no wonder that the coconut finds its way into cocktails as well. Not only is tender coconut and coconut mylk used in a plethora of cocktails, but coconut water's subtle sweetness also makes for a great flavour addition. As it is not too overpowering, it complements a wide variety of liqueurs and liquors very well. So, whether it be a margarita, a pina colada, or a fruit punch, coconut water can give it that subtle nutty twist.

MIXOLOGY
Manoj Alphones

The writer is mixologist & beverage head - Gatsby Cocktails & Cuisines

My favourite cocktail featuring the ubiquitous coconut, is the ever popular Pina Colada. But apart from this, mixologists are coming out with many more cocktails like Fat Wash Light. The uniqueness of this cocktail is that the spirit is infused in a unique way with fresh pineapple juice which is smoked along with jaggery syrup.

Fat Wash Light

- Rum: 1 ounce
- Smoked Pineapple Juice: 2 ounces
- Jaggery syrup: 1/5 ounce
- Lime juice: 1/5 ounce
- Mix all the above and pour into a tall glass
- Caramel foam on top for presentation

Vasishta Simha

THE DEBUTANT DIRECTOR IS A DANCER, ARTISTE, AND FITNESS TRAINER

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Vasishta Simha, who is juggling between Telugu and Kannada films, has signed his next. Titled LoveLi, the film will be directed by his long-time associate Chethan Keshav. The mahurat along with the title launch was held on Thursday. This project marks the directorial debut of Chethan. Talking about Chethan, Vasishta says, "Chethan Keshav is a multi-profile personality -- a dancer, an artiste, and he is also my fitness trainer. He has been associated with me since Mufti (2016). I have seen his work and talent, and this is his first attempt at direction."

Throwing light on the subject of the film, Vasishta says, "It's a love story with thriller elements. It also highlights certain social evils. I don't think it is a regular film, and that's why I picked it up."

LoveLi, which will go on floors next week, is produced under Ravindra Kumar's Abhuvanasha Creations banner. With music by Anoop Seelin, the yet-to-be-titled project has Ashwin Kennedy as the cinematographer.

Meanwhile, Vasishta, who recently completed the shooting of his portions for Head Bush, also has Kalachakra, Talwarpete, and his Telugu film Odela Railway Station at different stages of production.
